Hopi High students take part in statewide anti-smoking campaign

By Eldon Kalemisa, Coordinator, Hopi Tobacco Cessation Program

KYKOTSMOVI-Wed, Mar. 20, 2013 marked a successful date in which KICK BUTTS DAY activities were held statewide, including here at Hopi. Beginning at 11:00 AM in front of the Hopi Tribal Administration Building, student advisors, village youth coordinators, supportive community members, and tribal administrators joined 25 Hopi youth who had committed to express their pledge to "never start smoking" and to "walk away from tobacco".

The purpose of KICK BUTTS DAY was to engage our community youth to be a sounding board to their peers and the community-at-large about the negative aspects of commercial tobacco use. A poster board was constructed by students of Hopi High School and it was used as a pin board for pledges, by individuals, to abstain from tobacco use. Student Council members and villages representatives brought their own poster papers, including their collection of pledges from their village members. Perhaps the most impressive highlight of the event was when 14 youth stood up, with each representing 100 people, wearing t-shirts that dis-

Turmoil at a Hotevilla Village meeting ends in recall of CSA and board members

Crystal Dee Hopi Tutuveni

On the evening of Mar. 25 the Hotevilla Elderly and Youth Center was the scene of a village meeting that spiraled out of control when a group of concerned village members spearheaded by Muriel Scott took over a village meeting. A regular village meeting had been scheduled with a list of presenters on the agenda. However, the upset village members had an agenda of their own which they felt, "superseded the agenda posted by the village administration."

There were three Hotevilla board members present, Cheryl Tenakhonva, Eric Tewa and Kevin Lomatska. The Hotevilla Community Service Administrator, D. Lynn Dalton was invited to attend but chose not to go when she heard that Scott stated that this was a personal vendetta against her.

Dalton said, "I decided not to attend the meeting because I did not want to fuel her emotions where she may attack me, which she has done before."

Some Hotevilla village members were not aware of the agenda that was presented by Scott and felt that Scott's agenda was not valid since she had not followed the proper protocol. According to Tewa, there is a protocol to an agenda being presented prior to a meeting, in which the agenda must be posted for three days prior to the meeting.

Village members at the meeting were given the opportunity to vote on which agenda they wanted to hear and a majority voted to hear the allegations about CSA Dalton. Not everyone voted because they did not agree on how the meeting was being conducted. Twenty-one were in favor of the original agenda and 22 were in favor of Scott's agenda.

After the agenda was approved, Scott gave an overview of the allegations listed on her agenda. According to Scott the allegations are those of concerned village members who had approached her last September. They had asked her to bring these issues up to the board on their behalf.

Some of the allegations against the CSA were: unapproved village budgets; excessive travel by CSA and her staff with no trip reports; purchase of equipment and vehicles without village approval; selling coal that placed the village in jeopardy with Peabody; checks being written for cash in large amounts; and involvement in the Mishongnovi case without village approval, regarding the Amicus Brief.

In regards to unapproved village budgets, it is alleged that Dalton had invested $400,000 in an investment company, Morgan and Keegan, without the village's approval. Scott stated that she asked Dalton about the investment at a meeting back in September where Dalton admitted that she did invest the money. She informed the village that they could withdraw the money at any time if they wanted to.

"It was at this meeting she told everyone she was not with Ben Nuvamsa because we had questioned the involvement of the Kiva Institute and the investment," said Scott.

The allegation of excess travel is upsetting to community members because Dalton and her staff, Randall Selestewa and Carla Honanie, travel together, while their services are needed at the community building. During times when they are on travel, it is a hassle to receive services because they are not there. The community has noticed this and also that there are no trip reports upon their return. Dalton had purchased two vehicles without the village's approval and village members want to know what they are being used for.

Nurses at Hopi Health Care receive SANE training

Mihio Manus Hopi Tutuveni

Statistically one woman is sexually assaulted every seven seconds in the United States. When victims of sexual assault are treated at hospitals and health care facilities, they are subject to very personal examinations, the evidence from which could eventually result in legal proceedings or court cases. These types of traumatic events are horrific to comprehend.

For victims of sexual assault on the Hopi Reservation, there are a few extra steps in completing a sexual assault examination because currently there aren't any nurses at Hopi Health Care with Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners (SANE) training.

In response and accordance with the American Indian and Alaska Native Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner-Sexual Assault Response Team (SANE-SART) Initiative, nurses at HHC are undergoing SANE training to assist victims of sexual assault when they come into the hospital to receive treatment and examinations for their injuries.

The national initiative focuses on enhancing existing SANE-SART efforts to improve federal, state, local, and tribal response to victims of sexual violence in their respective communities. It is anticipated that this initiative will increase the capacity for communities, including service agencies such as health care facilities, victim advocacy, law enforcement, and the criminal and tribal justice

Update from ADOT on US 89 Pavement Collapse

By Arizona Department of Transportation, Office of Public Information

Overview

US 89 south of Page suffered a landslide and collapsed a 150-foot section of roadway. A key message theme is that we are working to ensure that the public is able to safely get to all destinations. Another key theme is that we recognize how important US 89 is to the Page and Lake Powell region and we will work on restoring regional connectivity quickly as possible.

Incident Background

ADOT engineers have confirmed that US 89 collapsed 25 miles south of Page as a result of a landslide. The road is currently closed indefinitely from the US 89A junction to Page.

The landslide happened overnight Wednesday, Feb. 20 sometime before 5 a.m.

The primary detour route is to take US 160 to State Route 98. This route adds 45 miles over the direct route. Drivers also have the option to take US 89A north to Marble Canyon toward Fredonia to reconnect to US 89 in southern Utah and take US 89 south to Page. This route adds 80 miles over the direct route.

ADOT has identified these alternate routes as the safest most efficient means to get to Page and southern Utah while the 23-mile stretch of US 89 is closed. ADOT is also urging all commercial truck traffic to use one of the proposed alternate routes on state highways and avoid traveling on any local roads. Currently, Navajo Route 20 is not appropriate for commercial vehicles.

The landslide caused quite a bit of damage to a 150-foot section of roadway over a stretch about 500 feet long.

The area remains unstable and, with 30-foot-deep chasms, is not safe for hikers who frequent the area. ADOT is asking the public to remain clear of the landslide area for their safety.

We have engineers on the scene, and ADOT has experts who specialize in geotechnical work determining the cause of the landslide, assessing the safety of the slope and determining short- and long-term options to return mobility to the area.

We are working on recon-

Hopi Elderly Needs Assessment

Submitted by
The Office of Aging & Adult Services

On March 26, 2013, Hopi Tribal Council approved the use of the University of North Dakota, needs assessment survey form for assessing needs of elders 55 years and older living on the Hopi Reservation. The needs assessment is conducted every three years for the Title VI Nutrition & Caregiver Programs. According to the Older Americans Act and Administration on Aging (AoA) regulations, the needs assessment is a program requirement.

When the needs assessment survey forms are being completed, they will be batched and submitted to the University of North Dakota, School of Medicine for compilation and analysis. A needs assessment report will be submitted back to the Hopi Tribe, Office of Aging & Adult Services. Information from the needs assessment report will be used to prepare a "new" Title VI program application for three years. The "new" program application is due November 2013.

The "new" Title VI Nutrition and Caregiver program will start April 1, 2014 and end March 31, 2017. A meeting has been scheduled for April 10, 2013 at 9 am at the Kykotsmovi Nutrition Center to discuss the details of the needs assessment. All Village Coordinators are invited to attend.

A total of 318 needs assessment survey forms will need to be completed. It is planned that five (5) individuals will be hired to complete these survey forms. These individuals will be paid for each need assessment survey completed. As well, volunteers will be used to assist in completing these survey forms.

It is anticipated that the needs assessment will be completed in six (6) to seven (7) weeks. Three years ago when the needs assessment was being conducted, we found that elders who were to be surveyed, had moved and were not living at their current address. We anticipate that this will occur again.

Elders will be "randomly" selected from the Hopi Enrollment listing and will be notified by mail that they have been selected. Elders selected have a right to refuse. In this instance, a replacement will be made.

Training on the needs assessment survey form will be conducted by staff of the University of North Dakota. Training will be on-site or by webinar conferencing. Information on the needs assessment is available at the Office of Aging & Adult Services. If you need this information, call (928) 734-3552 or come by the office.

FLAGSTAFF – Living in the small village of Kykotsmovi, Clarissa Humeystewa has worked hard to achieve more for herself and her family. Since becoming a teacher at the Hopi Child Care Center in 2006, she has taken every opportunity to further her education and become a better child care provider. Through a First Things First T.E.A.C.H. scholarship, Clarissa is the first recipient from the Hopi Tribe to graduate from the program with her Child Development Associate credential.

T.E.A.C.H. stands for Teacher Education And Compensation Helps. The scholarships, funded by the First Things First Coconino Regional Council, allow teachers, assistants and child care providers to enroll for 9 to 15 college credits toward a Child Development Associate (CDA) credential or an associate's degree or bachelor's degree in early childhood or an associated field. Numerous studies and reports show that the professional development of early childhood care and education providers has been directly linked to quality care. By promoting higher education, the program is helping to establish a well-qualified, fairly compensated, and stable workforce for Arizona's young children and their families.

"(T.E.A.C.H.) has allowed me to gain knowledge in teaching and caring for the children at the Hopi Child Care Center. I am now able to make my own educational materials for the children to learn," said Clarissa, who teaches nine children in the mornings and about 15 from Head Start who arrive in the afternoon. "T.E.A.C.H. has impacted my career in learning current information to help and work with children."

Children are the primary beneficiaries of the T.E.A.C.H. Program. Children benefit from having consistent caregivers, with a commitment to the field, who are specialists in early childhood education, who understand child development and who are sensitive to the needs of very young children.

Bernita Kuyaninvaya, Program Administrator of the Hopi Child Care Center, said she has seen the impact of Clarissa's learning in her teaching.

"(Clarissa) has shown and demonstrated her strong abilities to work with the children; she provides great opportunities to incorporate positive skills development, literacy, language and meaningful experiences for all children involved," Bernita said. "She is dedicated and will go out of her way to do more than what is expected of her, especially now that T.E.A.C.H. has even given her more (education). Her (degree) will have a positive effect on the quality of care that she provides."

Arizona CEO, Eddie Basha dies at 75

Associated Press

Eddie Basha, chairman and CEO of a family-owned grocery store chain that grew to more than 160 stores around Arizona under his four-decade guidance, died Tue, Mar. 26. He was 75.

A cause of death wasn't immediately released, but a family spokesman said Basha had been in failing health for some time.

"Eddie was Arizona through and through," Arizona Gov. Jan Brewer said. "Born of a pioneer Arizona family, Eddie grew to become one of our state's giants in business, politics and community service. He loved Arizona, and it showed in his decades of devoted work on behalf of Arizona schools and students."

Basha's grandfather and father opened the first of what would become the family-owned supermarket chain in 1932.

He took over the business at age 31 when his dad died in 1968.

Basha guided the Chandler-based company for more than 40 years and at one time, the chain had about 165 stores serving all 15 of Arizona counties. It also diversified into the Hispanic market with Food

City stores and into upscale grocery shopping with AJ's Fine Foods.

Declining sales due to a recession prompted the chain to seek Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection in 2009. It also closed more than 30 unprofitable stores and renegotiated more favorable lease terms on many of its remaining locations.

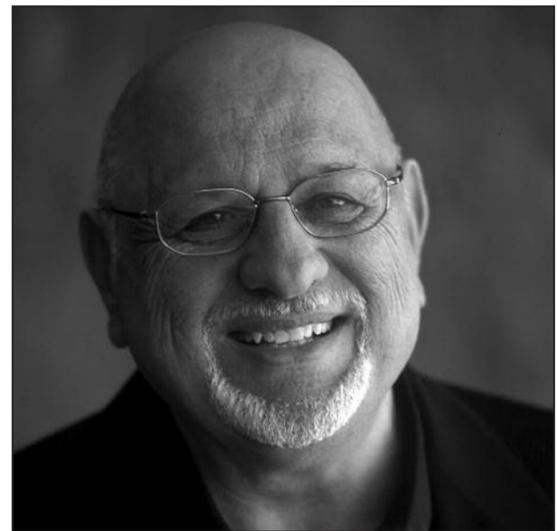

Basha appeared on the supermarket's television and newspaper ads, which gave him statewide name and face recognition.

He was appointed to the Arizona Board of Education in 1984, the state Board of Regents in 1990 and unsuccessfully ran for Arizona governor in 1994.

Friends said Basha and his company gave and raised millions of dollars for worthwhile causes around the state for years. He also was known to hand $100 bills out to panhandlers and singlehandedly bailed out countless community-service groups.

"Eddie Basha was a giant in our state's history. Not only as a business leader but as a passionate advocate for education," Phoenix Mayor Greg Stanton said in a statement. "He will be missed, but never forgotten."

His family said in a statement that Basha "always reinforced to us the importance of our members and giving back to our community. Some of his fondest times were being with Bashes' members and customers, whether at the office, the distribution center or in the stores."

Basha is survived by his wife and six sons, including four from his first marriage.

Native Guard Schimmel Drives Louisville Past Top-Seeded Baylor

Associated Press

That just happened. The Louisville Cardinals women's hoops squad knocked off the top-seeded Baylor Lady Bears last night in a Sweet Sixteen matchup in the NCAA women's basketball tournament, pulling off one of the biggest upsets in the history of the competition.

It's no surprise that the Louisville women were a 24-point underdog to Baylor in Las Vegas casinos, according to gambling expert R.J. Bell of Pregame.com. Considered a lock for the Final Four - and prohibitive favorites to win a second straight championship - All-American Brittney Griner, the second-highest scoring player in NCAA history, and her Lady Bears got bounced 82-81, though, by fifth-seeded Louisville in the NCAA regional semifinal.

Leading the charge for the U of L was, again, All-Everything point guard Shoni Schimmel. She drained five three-pointers and hit from everywhere else closer to the hoop, finishing with a team-high 22 points. Shoni's sister and super sixth-woman, Jude Schimmel, added six points, five rebounds and three assists, tied for tops on the team. The Schimmel sisters are from the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Reservation in Oregon.

Next up for the Schimmels and the Cardinals is another tough test: They'll face the second-seeded Tennessee Lady Volunteers in the Elite Eight on April 2, at 9 pm/ET. The game will air on ESPN2 and online on ESPN3 (check Espn.go.com/watchespn, for listings details.).

Continued/Turmoil at a Hotevilla Village meeting ends in recall of CSA and board members

Village members have attested that Dalton was selling coal which she is not supposed to be selling.

Lastly, former village board President Tyler Tawahongva filed the Amicus Brief on behalf of the Village of Hotevilla without their knowledge or consent.

"Hotevilla does not want to be involved in the Mishongnovi case and the village voted 30/0 to have the Amicus Brief withdrawn from court. I have offered my services for free to the village to file a motion to get it withdrawn from court," said Scott.

In September when Scott met with the concerned village members, she said they had their mind set on removing Dalton from her position. According to Scott, this is the reason that the village voted to remove her on last Monday.

Michael Hunter made a motion to remove the CSA that was seconded by Josephine Lomatska. It was again a majority vote with some abstaining. They also decided to remove the village board members because the village members felt they were not upholding their position.

During the meeting there were several people who voiced their concerns on what they had observed with Dalton's administration and wanted quick action in removing her. Some had advised the concerned village members that there is a proper way in removing the CSA and board members. The CSA is a tribal employee, according to the Human Resource office and the position is granted due process if the CSA is to be removed.

Scott on the other hand said that Dalton is not a tribal employee. "I checked with Chairman Shingoitewa's office.

Chairman Shingoitewa said in a Tribal Council Meeting that CSA's are not tribal employees. They are only paid by the H-13 thru the allocations to our village. They're not considered to be tribal employees. [Tribal employees] have grievance rights. She can't go to the Personnel Department and file a grievance against the village because we are tieless. Again, I direct you to that Mishongnovi decision where Judge Trujillo said if you have policies, you are no longer a traditional village because [traditional villages] do not have policies. We are not going to get ourselves involved in that mess. But Lynn is not tribal employee."

The village members voted to remove Cheryl Tenakhongva, Eric Tewa, Clawson Masayesva and Tyler Tawahonva. Kevin Lomatska was not removed as the attending village members said he was the only one who represented the people.

The current interim board of Hotevilla is Kevin Lomatska, Sandra Suhu, Sandy Dennis, Micheal Hunter, Bruce Koiyiyumptewa, and Rickey Sakayumptewa.

During this meeting the village managed to agree on having a Forensic Audit done on the village administration that will go back extensively. Some hope this will clear up any allegations toward Dalton's indiscretions.

Mary A. Felter, a village member, had a meeting with Dalton where she brought up the audit and other issues of concern. It was then that Dalton agreed to the audit because she wanted to insight into the years prior to her term as CSA. This audit would also mean that she would be placed on administrative leave to which she agreed to comply.

"Monday night's meeting was supposed to have been a board supervised meeting but a group of unauthorized people took over," said Dalton about the meeting she did not attend.

Dalton says that the allegations they are accusing her of can easily be answered and proved if the concerned village members would come to her and ask for these documents or if they would attend the village meetings.

"When we have our village meetings there are only a handful of people that come and we vote on issues they are complaining about. At this point it is not a governance issue, it's a personal issue," said Dalton.

However, Scott speaks to the contrary.

"This meeting that was held is not about me. I have nothing to gain from it. I'm not trying to be the CSA or seeking to run for the board. My concern is solely for the elders, children and village members," said Scott.

Guest Column/Your Word

By Andy Magnarella

The Moral for this printing is our WORD! There are a lot of morals we can start with but which of them are as basic or as important as keeping our word? Whether it is

Husband to Wife, Parents to Children, Children or Teenagers to Parents, Peers to Peers, or between Boss and Worker. If we do not keep our word then we have nothing! The Bible says, James 5:12 "But above all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, neither by the earth, neither by any other oath: but let your yea be yea; and your nay, nay; lest ye fall into condemnation." Some times when we want to tell someone that we really mean what we say, we declare several statements: "I swear by the Bible, By my mothers grave, by the sun that rises," etcetera... But the Bible says that our word should be so good that we should not have to swear by things. If you say that you will be there, then you should be there. If you are going to do something then you should do it! Plain and simple. If you say something, unless you are in the hospital, deathly sick, or dead your word should be your bond! There used to be a day when during major business deals people shook hands in confidence that whatever was agreed upon would be fulfilled to the letter by each party! Are you an honest person? Do you keep your word? Can people look you in the eye and say "When that person says something he will do it?" If we don't have our word we don't have anything!! Please read these with your family. Brought to you by Bethel Baptist Church in Hotevilla, Pastor Andy Magnarella. 928-206-7811, avmags@gmail.com.

Between March 1 and May 30, 2009, Garcia sexually abused two minor females on the Tohono O’odham Nation.

The investigation in this case was conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Tohono O’odham Police Department. The prosecution is being handled by Nicole Savel, Assistant U.S. Attorney, District of Arizona, Tucson.

Center for Hope receives generous contributions on Arizona Gives Day

MESA, ARIZ. – (March 25, 2013) - Center for Hope, programs of Community Bridges, Inc. (CBI) that provide residential, outpatient, permanent housing and supportive services for women and their families, regardless of their ability to pay, was ranked among the top 15 nonprofits to receive much-needed funding as part of this week’s Arizona Gives Day initiative. On Tuesday, March 20, Center for Hope quickly became a donor favorite as generous contributions online streamed in throughout the one-day event totaling more than $8400. Leading up to and even after the event, additional funds brought in more than $11,000 in only four days.

Taking place for the first time in the state, Arizona Gives Day allowed individuals and organizations the opportunity to come together online, connect with causes they care about and make tax-deductible donations to their favorite charity in 24 hours. Donations made to Center for Hope will help build a new nursery on Center for Hope’s residential campus in Mesa, Ariz., and will provide general program support for ongoing services to women and families throughout Maricopa County.

"We are honored to have been considered one of the top choices among those committed to making a difference through financial support in our state," said Kimberly Craig, vice president of women’s and children’s programs at Center for Hope. "The funds received as part of Arizona Gives Day will make a difference in the lives of women, children and entire families for years to come. We are grateful to all individuals and organizations that contributed and made it a great day for Center for Hope and for Arizona."

Center for Hope officially began serving the community in Jan., 2005 to support women, who found themselves homeless, pregnant and in need of long-term support in need of integrated behavioral health, housing and medical services. Since that time, more 170 healthy, substance-free babies have been born to women in the residential program and countless others have become thriving members of the community.

Most recently, Center for Hope has expanded its services to focus not only on women in need of assistance, but their immediate and extended families as well. Fathers, for example, are encouraged to become actively involved their child’s prenatal care in order to strengthen their relationship with the mother and bond with their babies as individuals. These personal connections and relationships have proven to be critical components of long-term success and healing. By strengthening these support systems, mothers now have additional support to stay involved in treatment and stay motivated to do the hard work necessary to change their lives.

Those interested in finding out more about Center for Hope programs and additional donor or volunteer opportunities may contact Kimberly Craig, by phone at 480-768-6022 or by email at krcraig@cbridges.com. ### Continued/Update from ADOT on US 89 Pavement Collapse structing the damaged highway as quickly as possible, although it's premature to lay out a timeline. It should go without saying that we recognize how important US 89 is to the community of Page and the Lake Powell region, which is why we are keeping local officials informed of our progress. We will work through the process of determining what happened beneath the highway and figure out a best plan for long-term options.

US 89 was originally built in 1957.

Navajo Route 20 / US 89T

In order to establish a shorter detour route for US 89, ADOT is examining paving Navajo Route 20 as a temporary, short-term solution.

At a special meeting of the State Transportation Board on March 21, the board approved $1 million to design improvements to Navajo Route 20, a Navajo Nation tribal road that runs parallel to the damaged highway. Approximately 27 miles of the roadway are unpaved.

ADOT would pave the road and ensure that it could carry commercial truck traffic, while repairs are made to US 89. The agency is already working with potential contractors and construction could begin as soon as late spring. The US 89T project is expected to take three to four months to complete.

Public Outreach

In light of the landslide that forced the closure of US 89 south of Page, the Arizona Department of Transportation has launched a new webpage, www.azdot.gov/us89, dedicated to keeping the public informed about the latest news, alternate routes and up-to-date videos and photos of the roadway damage on US 89.

Users of the webpage can also sign up for updates on the US 89 closure. The public can also contact the Project Hotline toll-free at 1.855.712.8530 or via email at projects@azdot.gov.

Emergency Declaration / Funding

On March 1, Gov. Jan Brewer issued Declaration of Emergency, paving the way for ADOT to request reimbursement funding from the Federal Highway Administration.

The Arizona Department of Transportation has been granted $2 million in immediate federal aid that can be used to continue investigating the cause of a landslide on a stretch of US 89 last month south of Page. Following Governor Jan Brewer's Declaration of Emergency, ADOT asked the Federal Highway Administration for the quick release of emergency relief funds and submitted an initial estimate to complete repairs of $35 million. This estimate may change as further information about the landslide is gathered by engineers.

The quick release funds will be used to assess the damage and the stability of the mountain slope, and conduct emergency operations.

The Federal Highway Administration's emergency relief program reimburses state and local agencies for the repair or reconstruction of highways, roads and bridges that are damaged in natural disasters and catastrophic failures.

Continued/Hopi High students take part in statewide anti-smoking campaign

played "1400 a day" on the front and "500,000 a year" on the back. The message conveyed here was that 1400 people a day and 500,000 people a year die from tobacco related diseases. The students would drop to the ground at four different times. Symbolically then, each time a student dropped to the ground, literally then, thousands of people would die from tobacco related diseases. They did a drop down of youth on the ground for 10-15 seconds at 11:30, 12:00, 12:30, and 1:00 PM displaying visually losing that many people a day dying to tobacco related diseases. This display can make one wonder about how many of these numbers represent Native people, or how many of them represent our Hopi People?

We know that Piva is an integral part of Hopi culture and religion; however, it is not the commercial tobacco that is part of our culture. That is what we need to understand and realize that what we think of this Pahan piva is not what it is. Traditional, natural tobacco and commercial tobacco are significantly different in its make-up, how it is processed, and the method (s) in how it is used. The overlying message of this event was to educate and raise awareness about the ills of commercial tobacco use. The youth of our community, through their participation in this event, have done an impressive job to that end. CONGRATULATIONS HOPI YOUTH !! Kwakwah!

Hopi Tutuveni/Crystal Dee

Students from Hopi High School symbolically 'drop dead' to convey the message that 1400 people die every day from tobacco related diseases. Kick Butts Day was held locally at the Hopi Tribal buildings in Kykotsmovi.

port us every day and every 56 hours an officer makes the ultimate sacrifice. This event is your chance to say thank you and support them in return.

This is the first Memorial Run/Walk event, and we hope community participation will be encouraged so we can look forward to holding The Dean M. James Memorial Run/Walk Event each year and to also commemorate those officers that were killed in the line of duty and to recognize our officers that service our communities

Police Officer Dean James's memory will be honored at this 1st annual "Run to Remember," at the Hopi B.I.A Police Department Complex. The memorial will be coordinated by The James Family and Hopi B.I.A Police Department volunteers.

There will also be a 1 mile & 2 mile course for those registered participants who choose not to run/walk in the 8.09 mile course.

T-shirts will be provided to early registrants upon completion of the course.

Participants can register on the day of the event but will not be guaranteed a memorial t-shirt. Day of registration will be from 6am to 7am with the race starting at 8am. There is no fee to participate or register for the race.

The 8.09 course signifies Officer Dean M. James' call #(809).

Continued/Nurses at Hopi Health Care receive SANE training

systems to respond more effectively to victims of sexual violence. It is anticipated that a more effective response to victims will foster a sense of fairness and satisfaction in victims and communities, thereby increasing engagement and cooperation with the criminal justice process that may lead to more thorough investigations and more successful prosecutions.

Jarrin said it was difficult to implement this training thus far because the vacancy rate of nurses at HHC was high.

"The history is that in the past we wanted to have the training but we've had a significant vacancy rate. When we don't have nurses, we call in travel nurses. Not having nurses here full time made it difficult to establish a program. Within the last seven months, we've taken our vacancy rate from 50 percent down to 3 percent. This made it possible to recruit and offer the training to our nurses," Jarrin said.

Jarrin expects to implement a staff of fully trained SANE nurses in the fall of this year. Prior to HHC nurses receiving this training, patients would be transported to a sexual assault center in Flagstaff for forensic evaluation.

As a result of SANE training, HHC nurses will be able to collect the forensic evidence on site and this will promote efficiency for patients who are undergoing sexual assault examinations.

Jarrin said that for victims of traumatic sexual assault, being able to be treated in a local hospital can make handling a bad situation more accommodating in terms of forensic examination. This, as opposed to a four-hour commute which victims currently have to endure.

Because of the training, nurses will have more interaction with the FBI, Hopi Police and victim advocates. "When we collect the evidence, we have to keep it secure. We have to hand it off to the state crime lab for analysis and if it goes to court, the nurses will be called to testify," Jarrin said.

The nurses at HHC who are participating in the training hope that for the patients, these services will create more trust in the community. They hope it creates an atmosphere where victims and patients feel that they can come forth to be examined.

"We hope to make it less traumatic with less of a commute. We're trying not to make it as drawn out. We want them to know that they can trust us and that the nurses at HHC will do the best they can do. We're working together with the police and the FBI and establishing these relationships. It's been a positive experience overall," said Kristina Donnay, Inpatient Nurse at HHC.

Currently, the nurses at HHC have undergone the didactic portion of the training. They will soon undergo clinical skills training and equipment training.

Once these last trainings are complete, the nurses will be able to comprehensively treat and examine victims of sexual assault at the Hopi Health Care facility.

Roll-over on State Highway 264 leaves two injured

Hopi Tutuveni

Two Hopi women were involved in a near fatal one vehicle roll-over on State Highway 264 on Saturday, March 23. Both women were transported to the Hopi Health Care Center where the driver was treated for minor injuries and released.

The passenger of the vehicle sustained more serious injuries and was airlifted to the Flagstaff Medical Center where she is being treated, and is expected to make full recovery. A Reminder to everyone travelling out there: Buckle up, leave in plenty of time to reach your destination and Drive Safely.

Relief Available To Extension Requesters Claiming Tax Benefits

PHOENIX -- The Internal Revenue Service recently provided late-payment penalty relief to individuals and businesses requesting a tax-filing extension because they are attaching to their returns any of the forms that couldn't be filed until after January.

The relief applies to the late-payment penalty, normally 0.5 percent per month, charged on tax payments made after the regular filing deadline. This relief applies to any of the forms delayed until February or March, primarily due to the January enactment of the American Taxpayer Relief Act.

Taxpayers using forms claiming such tax benefits as depreciation deductions and a variety of business credits qualify for this relief. A complete list of eligible forms can be found in Notice 2013-24 (<http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-drop/n-13-24.pdf>), posted today on IRS.gov.

Individuals and businesses qualify for this relief if they properly request an extension to file their 2012 returns. Eligible taxpayers need not make any special notation on their extension request, but as usual, they must properly estimate their expected tax liability and pay the estimated amount by the original due date of the return.

The return must be filed and payment for any additional amount due must be made by the extended due date. Interest (<http://www.irs.gov/uac/Newsroom/Interest-Rates-Remain-the-Same-for-the-Second-Quarter-of-2013>)s till applies to any tax payment made after the original deadline.

Further details on this relief, including instructions for responding to penalty notices, is available in Notice 2013-24.

Historic First Mesa Baptist Church building to be replaced with a new Church Sanctuary

By Louella Nahsonhoya
Hopi Tutuveni

The First Mesa Baptist Church (FMBC), a historic sanctuary in Polacca, Az. was constructed in 1904 by local Hopi craftsmen for missionary purposes and a place for Christians to gather for worship services. The founding of the church was done through prayerful faith and devoted service of the early missionaries and a few Christian Hopis. With natural innate construction skills and through months and years of hard labor, Hopi men quarried stone and mixed their own mud mortar to construct the First Mesa sanctuary. Although no building specifications or codes were in place at the time, the building was constructed to perfection and stood for almost 110 years.

Construction work was slow and steady, but with an evangelistic fervor, the community came together to support the building, which many continue to refer to as their safe haven. With blessings and involvement from the traditional and Hopi religious leaders of First Mesa, the early Women Missionaries wrote a letter dated Oct. 20, 1909 to the Secretary of the Interior in Washington, DC accompanied by a letter from the Hopi Agency Superintendent "to have on behalf of the Women's American Baptist Home Mission Society (ABHM), certain lands set aside on the Moqui Indian Reservation." On Oct. 30, 1909, the Interior Department granted authority for 10 acres of land be "set apart for the temporary use and occupancy of the Women's American Baptist Home Mission Society for mission purposes."

Historical accounts say Hopi religious leaders, blessed the ground and said prayers for the Missionaries, in the Hopi traditional way, before the work started. The name of the hill on which First Mesa Baptist church sits was known as "tavop tsono." It is said this was where rabbit hunters pelted rabbit skins.

According to archived church records, "the First Mesa Baptist Mission was formally organized in Sept. 1, 1907" and "with this simple entry in the old record book, the Baptist Church at Polacca became a reality." Another entry in the old book says "our first service was held in the new chapel, June 12, 1910. This chapel has been spoken of as a monument to Abigail Johnson, the early woman missionary who did much in supervising the construction. Many missionaries have served at FMBC and have preached and shared the gospel of Jesus Christ. With their love for God and humanity, missionaries come to serve without or with little finances. Many prayers have been offered as well as counseling support services and providing food, shelter, clothing and other basic needs. In the early days the mission also served as a clinic. The Baptist Church was a gathering place for all community members. Women learned to sew and in early times, made all their clothing for family members at the church. Cooking and nutrition classes were held for women and construction and labor related trades were also offered to the men. Every family residing in First Mesa has been a part of or has been blessed or touched in some way by the services of FMBC.

Throughout the century, the building has undergone many repairs, restoration and stabilization efforts; mainly due to shifting of the building causing cracks in the wall. The building does not have a foundation and sits on clay and floor joists are popping out, compounded with a wash about 5' to the west of the building, causing movement of the building (when it rains).

In 2001, the American Baptist Society engaged the services of a professional engineer to evaluate the structure and soundness and make a general assessment of the condition of the building. In his Assessment Report, the engineer noted "this building is in the worst condition of any that I observed". The observation reported noted the integrity of the stone walls and safety of the building. Large areas of each wall had cracked mortar joints. Pressure from the roof pushed the side walls out, in some places 3" or more. The south wall (with no direct pressure from roof) bowed 1 1/2" to 2" and large cracks allowed rain into the building. Overtime with rain and snow, the mud between the stones eroded to the point where currently some stones sit on top of each other with nothing in between. Past stabilization efforts include stone buttresses on the west wall, an access ramp buttress on the east wall and some mortar joint patching. The steepness of the roof and church steeple made it difficult to keep up with repairs to the roof; thus shingles were blown off and roof trusses have broken in several places. With this report and a more detailed investigation, the Pastor was told to immediately "stop using the building" and the building was determined condemned by the American Baptist Society. The assessor recommended: Plan to rebuild the building, carefully dismantle the building and save the stones and other usable materials and rebuild with proper engineering and techniques using current building codes. Since that time, the building has become more unsafe with more shifting and is now leaning with gaps in the ceiling where the building has pulled away from the roof.

A meeting was held on May 26, 2010 to discuss construction of a new church building, the land status and mission work at FMBC. In attendance at the meeting were leadership from the ABHM, Hopi traditional leaders, Representative and spokesman for the Kikmongwi, Tribal Leaders, Realty Department, FMBC congregation members and other interested individuals.

Since 1909 to present, several homes and buildings have been built and constructed within the 10 acres allotted to FMBC; including AZ State highway 264. The ABHM leadership and Pastor of FMBC chose not to raise the issue of those who have built on their allotted property; but rather received the blessings from the traditional leadership to renew their allotment with a new land use document. The traditional leadership supports the present existence of FMBC and like all community members, reflect on their families being served by the church. It was a difficult decision for the leadership at FMBC, because naturally parishioners want the building to stand. However, with the dangers and now a more rapidly deteriorating building, it is important that a new and safe building be constructed to stand for the next 100 years. A Celebration of Life ceremony for the First

Mesa Baptist Church old sanctuary is tentatively scheduled for April 30, prior to the building being dismantled. Plans for new construction will follow shortly thereafter. Everyone is invited and welcome to submit their remembrances of the church building to: Reverend Taeli Lim, Sr. Pastor, First Mesa Baptist Church, PO Box 164, Polacca, AZ 86042

President Obama signs bill to protect Monsanto from litigation over GMOs

Associated Press

Monsanto has a one-year lease to grow and harvest genetically modified crops with the passage of H.R. 933. In the United States, as long as the genetically modified crop is legal, producers don't have to inform consumers that the foods are GM. 75 percent of processed foods with genetically modified origins are sold in grocery stores in the United States.

Opponents of the legislation and opponents of GMOs say that food companies should label their foods with GM information in the same way they label caloric and fat content. Food companies feel that process is costly. Monsanto is one of the largest, and most profitable corporations in the world.

Long labeled "frankenfoods" the most severe criticism of GM crops comes from anti-GMO crusaders who say that the GMOs on supermarket shelves has led to a rise in soy related allergies. There are also concerns that GMOs are responsible for a rise in Bt immune response and reproductive problems.

But that isn't true in a number of countries around the globe. All of Europe, Russia, China and South Africa require labeling on foods that contain GM ingredients. Japan has also imposed GM restrictions and bans.

In the United States,

there are six common sources of genetically modified organisms. Products containing soy, corn, canola, and sugar beets are likely the results of genetic engineering. These foods contain byproducts like high fructose corn syrup, soybean oil, and vegetable and canola oils.

Simply put, avoiding GMOs means cutting down or eliminating conventional foods that contain soy, canola, corn, sugar beets, beef of cows that were not 100 percent grass fed, and processed foods, including cheese.

Half of North America's soy crops are genetically engineered. 85 percent of the corn grown in the United States is genetically engineered. Genetically engineered canola is so ingrained in the U.S. that graduate students found GM strains growing wild alongside roads in North Dakota one year.

Conventionally raised cows are likely fed GMO corn to help increase fat marbling. If the beef is not organic, the cows should be grass fed before slaughter. Processed foods, cheeses for example, are likely to have at least one genetically modified ingredient. Consumers can avoid GMOs by choosing whole foods and cooking and preparing the food themselves.

Genetically modified sugar beets were introduced to the U.S. in 2009. Like many GMO crops, the strain was introduced so the food would become herbicide resistant and lethal to insects.

Organic farmers raise their crops without chemicals to control pestilence. Environmentalists and health advocates are most opposed to H.R. 933 because it's no longer disputable that process foods encourage obesity and other health related diseases (diabetes, for example) and vegetarians, vegans especially, are wary of their whole and organic foods being traded off for foods that are bred to kill other animals. (Some GMO crops are genetically modified so that they kill insects that may destroy the plant or a farmer's crops).

You never said, "I'm leaving..."
You never said, "Goodbye..."
You were gone before we knew it and only God knows why.

There are now words to explain what we feel inside...
The shock, hurt and anger may gradually subside.

A million times we will need you.
A million times we will cry.

If love alone could have saved you
You never would have died.

In life, we loved you dearly
In death, we love you still.
In our hearts you hold a place
That no one could ever fill.

It broke our hearts to lose you
But you did not go alone...
For a part of us went with you
The day God took you home.

Things will never be the same and Although it hurts so bad...
We will smile whenever we hear your name
And be PROUD you are our Dad!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY & we LOVE you Dad!

Cervical cancer is the most preventable cancer in women. HPV is a virus that increases your risk for cervical cancer. To help more women get screened for cervical cancer, H.O.P.I. Cancer Support Services is partnering with the University of Washington to offer a test to check for HPV in the privacy of your home. This test is available for a limited time as part of a project to improve cervical cancer prevention in Hopi and Tewa women. The in-home HPV test doesn't replace the Pap test, but it may give you more information about your risk for cervical cancer. Participants who complete the test will receive a $40 gift card.

If you would like to participate or want to know more about the project, please contact the Hopi HPV Prevention Project staff, Olivia Dennis or Lorene Vicente, at (928) 723-1151 or by visiting the H.O.P.I. Cancer Support Services in Kykotsmovi.
