Hopi dedicates new assisted living facility in Moenkopi

On February 4th, HOPI Cancer Support Services (HCSS) and Native American Cancer Prevention Program (NACP) joined organizations around the world to support World Cancer Day. HCSS and NACP launched an email campaign to encourage people to take action against cancer. People were given an explanation of World Cancer Day and encouraged to long-standing myths surrounding big “C” word, which is Cancer.

Kellie Polingyumptewa, NACP Community Health Representative says, “For Native Amer. I learned about the importance of math, health, mental and physical health, nutrition, exercise and the need to take care of our bodies. I still dislike math to this day, but I know it is important in everything we do including technology.”

Although World Cancer Day is over, it doesn't mean we should fight against cancer stops. Organizations like NACP and HCSS still do their part by providing resources on cancer prevention and also offer cancer screenings for specific types of cancer.

Polingyumptewa continued, “When I talk about cure, I tell people to take the steps they fear most and learn more about it. For example, math was my fear. I would do anything to avoid math. Then I started to learn more about the reason for math. Over time I was able to accept math for what it is. I still dislike math, but I know it is important in everything we do including technology.”

While World Cancer Day is over, it doesn't mean we should fight against cancer. Organizations like NACP and HCSS still do their part by providing resources on cancer prevention and also offer cancer screenings for specific types of cancer.

Polingyumptewa ends by saying, “It takes more than an individual to defeat cancer. It takes our families, our friends, and the community as a whole. Give your support and patience to those dealing with this disease. They will appreciate it.”

“The Hopi Tribe started the New Year with positive achievements for the young and old. Jan. 16, the Hopi Tribe celebrated the Dedication/Open House of the new Hopi Assisted Living Facility (HALF) Moenkopi. Officially 37,000 square feet took place outside the beautifully constructed building at 6am with over 100 people to join in the celebration. Although it was chilly, the facility was in attendance and eager to see the facility. KUYI Hopi Radio was the proud radio station to broadcast the celebration.

Mary Shingoitewa-Navaw, HALF Assistant Project Manager, and the Mistress of Ceremonies began the ceremony by welcoming everyone to the event. ‘How you all will remember this day. Jan. 16, 2013 as this is a historic day and the beginning of a new era for our elders’

Navawicki introduced the First Nation Post 80 to raise the flag of the United States of America and the Hopi Flag as she received everyone’s respect and the Pledge of Allegiance along with Crystal Dee Hopi Tribal Council Member, Chairman Shingoitewa-Navaw, Vice Chairman Honanie and members of the Arizona Commission of Indian Affairs.

The Arizona Commission of Indian Affairs (ACA) visits the Hopi Reservation on Jan. 11 and met with Chair Mary Shingoitewa-Navaw, Vice Chairman Honanie Ho depressed enough in the beginning to give the facility. HCSS still do their part by providing presentations on cancer prevention and also offer cancer screenings for specific types of cancer.

In the wake of the January 8, 2011 shooting in Tucson, Arizona, and other mass shootings occurring in this country, some people have been calling for gun control. This past month, the political climate surrounding gun control appears to be changing. The Newtown massacre has now put gun control on the national agenda more than ever before. If not now, when? In recognition of this issue, this President and the Vice President have charged us, the people, to identify concrete steps that can be taken to reduce gun violence in our country. As the President said, “While there is law out of law that can prevent every single act of violence – if one life can be saved, it is worth it.”

Giffords and Mark Kelly, whose 14-year-old daughter, Newtown and its aftermath, has now put gun control on the national agenda more than ever before. If not now, when? In recognition of this issue, this President and the Vice President have charged us, the people, to identify concrete steps that can be taken to reduce gun violence in our country. As the President said, “While there is law out of law that can prevent every single act of violence – if one life can be saved, it is worth it.”

The most reasonable, widely accepted, steps that can be taken today are:

- background checks
- safe storage
- keep guns out of the hands of violent or dangerous people

The primary reason for this is that the only thing we can do to reduce this thing we can do is to legal background checks, background checks they would be required to pass to buy a firearm.

The background check, as proposed by the Senate, would require a criminal background check before a person can purchase a firearm. This background check would be required to pass to buy a firearm.

A common sense proposal like this would require a criminal background check before a person can purchase a firearm. This background check would be required to pass to buy a firearm.
