Phoenix, AZ – Governor Doug Ducey, Senator John S. McCain and Senator Jeff Flake met with Navajo and Hopi Tribal leadership today for a momentous discussion about Little Colorado water rights issues. Governor Chairman Honanie, Navajo Nation President Russell Begaye and Speaker of the Twenty-Third Navajo Nation Tribal Council LoRenzo C. Bates pledged cooperation to address long-standing issues related to the Little Colorado River. The meeting also included a number of state and local government representatives, and non-Indian water users.

“We live in a third land,” said Navajo Nation President Russell Begaye. “We cannot provide economic development for our people without a reliable water supply.” Hopi Chairman Honanie agreed. “Water is life for both tribes,” said Honanie.

The parties have pledged their cooperation to develop a settlement.” Water is the defining issue for the future of our state,” said Senator McCain. “We cannot have a predictable future without completing the Indian water settlements.” Governor Ducey echoed Senator McCain’s remarks. “A water settlement for the Little Colorado is a high priority for the Twenty-Third Navajo Nation Council.” Both Senator McCain and Senator Flake agreed to introduce federal legislation to implement a water settlement if the parties reach agreement.

Significantly, Navajo and Hopi leaders pledged to co-operate to present a unified position. “We are two nations, one voice,” said Honanie. Both tribes also pledged to support negotiations. “Settlement for the Little Colorado is a high strategic priority for Arizona.” Both Senator McCain and Senator Flake agreed to introduce federal legislation to implement a water settlement if the parties reach agreement.

Gomez said they are also currently working on purchasing a 32 passenger bus for the Flagstaff. "We are in the process of getting approval for the purchase of two of these," said Gomez. "We will serve lunch, have drive up service and entertainment.

First Mesa Consolidated Village (FMCV) News

Crystal Dee, Hopi Tuvutuvi

During an interview with First Mesa Consolidated Village (FMCV) Business Manager Ivan Sidney, Sr., regarding First Mesa Village development projects, he referred to the Hopi Constitutional and By-laws, in which it recognizes First Mesa Village as a consolidated village of Wales, Stilson and Tewa. The Hopi Constitution and By-laws say the village majority votes mean nothing. My opinion is the village reps must represent village policy. If they cannot or are outside interests. This brings up the question: Why are two of our Village Representatives working to try to bring gaming to the Hopi Sinom again? On my last year in Council as a Representative, one morning, Norman Honanie said to me, ‘This is my job and I can’t wait on the Hopi Tribe to make this decision.’

Mr. Frederick Lomayesva gave us a thick document on gaming. ‘We need to create more jobs and pubs for our people,’ said Sidney. ‘That is why we are bringing develop- ment projects for our people.’

Future Development Projects:

Sidney said the three villages recently came together to talk about the First Idea Business Development projects to discuss how to efficiently assist Lung Cancer and Self Determination Foundation. The grant will fund the construction part of the project and will be made available through the Hopi Tribe Housing Authority in the amount of $29K. The development will include 40 units, 15 residential development, FMCV community center, child care center, convenience store, 19 Park and an Assisted Living Complex. Other developments include a solar panel and a water pumping station near the Hopi Health Care Center, new air top and community.

“There really don’t like to talk about the cemetery because it’s a sensitive topic, but the cemetery is almost coming to a complete closure. Although it is something we don’t really like to talk about, it is a cycle,” said Sidney. “The new cemetery will also be a memorial area for the Hopi veterans.”

Sidney said the traditional leaders at First Mesa have been generous in giving funds for services that benefit the Hopi people and feels that it is a great service. “Only private businesses pay leases, but businesses that provide services to the Hopi people do not pay lease payments,” said Sidney.

Community Security:

FMCV provides village members with water services and security. The community, known as Community Service Officers, assist with routine security checks in the villages, traffic control during ceremonies and assist Law Enforcement in reporting crimes. Sidney said he hopes to increase the number of CSOs so that we can have more coverage in the community. It is important to be able to have certification where they can be more effective and trained.

Village Tourism program:

FMCV offers village tours to those who visit the reservation.

Other services:

FMCV offers assistance with paperwork, utility payments and call- ers to First Mesa.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The March 6, 2016 issue of Tuvutuvi, I read the report of the Gaming Task Team to the Tribal Council. I thought that the Hopi Sinom has voted in 2004 and in 2005 to ban gaming, that we as the Hopi Sinom are in the Community Service Officers. However, Mr. Frederick Lomayesva wants to bring gaming to the Hopi Sinom again.

Hopi VITA Partnership

Providing free income tax assistance with the helping hands of volunteers

By Monica Navasima, Executive Director Hopi Foundation

What is the VITA Program?

The partnership started in Spring 2013 through DNA Legal Services and Northland Pioneer College. The Hopi Foundation, Hopi and Northern Arizona United Way became involved in 2014 to assist with community outreach and raising funds to expand the program to serve more clients and a accessible to people in need of VITA services from the reservation through training and education.

What is VITA?

The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program (VITA) is an IRS initiative designed to promote and support free tax preparation service for the underserved in both urban and non-urban locations. Services are targeted to low-income households, persons with disabilities, the elderly, and limited English speaking. IRS-certified volunteers provide free basic income tax return preparation with electronic filing to qualified individuals in local communities. They can inform taxpayers about special tax credits for which they may qualify such as Earned Income Tax Credit, Child Tax Credit, and Credit for the Elderly or the Disabled. Typically, VITA sites are generally located at community and neighborhood centers, libraries, schools, shopping malls, and other convenient locations. On the Hopi reservation there are three sites setup to assist with a screening, intake interview and scanning of their documents. GBP sites are:

- NPC Hopi Center
- The Hopi Foundation
- The Hopi Tribe Mobile Internet Library

How does one qualify?

To qualify, you must earn less than $75,000 and need assistance in preparing your own tax return.

If you have a simple tax return and need a little help or do not have access to a computer, you can visit the Hopi VITA Site and an IRS-certified volunteer can help file your federal and state returns or guide you through the process online.

What must I bring with me?

To complete your return, please bring the required documents:
- Photo identification, Social Security card(s), W-2, 1099-R, and 1099-INT for Federal income tax returns.
- Federal income tax returns for the past three years.

The Scan2go process includes an intake and interview with taxpayers to ensure all documents are included for filing of the 2015 tax return. The documents are scanned and saved to a secure online system where VITA tax preparers can review and prepare the tax return forms. Once the return is prepared, the taxpayer is contacted to review and sign their return. If there are questions or missing information, the return may take additional time to review and sign their return. We, at the Hopi Tribe Department of Education, are pleased to announce the 2016 “Hopi Job/Education Fair” to be held at the Hopi Veterans Memorial Center on Tuesday, April 20, from 9 am to 6 pm.

The Hopi Tribe Adult Vocational Training, Grants and Scholarship Office, Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act, Hopi Tribal Library, Hopi Welfare Agency, Hopi VWAP (Mobile Health Unit, Special Needs, Vocational Rehabilitation, Hopi Child Care, Hopi Family Assistance Program (formerly TANF)), and Hopi Business Services have all teamed up to host this year’s event! We invite all interested individuals, of all ages, that are interested in Employment and Education Fair to come and visit the many organizations and agencies that will be represented. We have invited over 40 colleges and Universities, Vocational, Schools, and Service Providers to come and disseminate their information. Please take the opportunity to learn about the different choices that are available.

This MOU marshals the appropriate focus and resources for tribal youth and have helped increase Native American Indian and Alaska Native families and tribes, but for tribes, as well, because they suffered from losing generations of their future members and leaders. ICWA set forth a federal framework for maintaining tribal sovereignty over matters concerning the custody of tribal children. The United States Congress “recognizes that the well-being of Indian and Alaska Native children and families is inextricably linked to the overall health and welfare of American Indian and Alaska Native communities.”

Today, the Bureau of Indian Education (BIE) of the Department of the Interior, oversees the operations of 184 Bureau-operated schools and 130 Bureau-funded school districts on 97 reservations, primarily in the western United States. The Bureau enrolls nearly 170,000 American Indian and Alaska Native students, with approximately 52,000 attending Bureau-operated schools and 118,000 attending Bureau-funded schools. In addition, the Bureau administers the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA)’s Departmental Program Area for Indian Education, which focuses on the improvement of Indian reservation schools.

To establish structures and procedures to ensure that the Workgroup operates effectively and efficiently, the principal co-chairs of the ICWA Interagency Workgroup are the DOJ, the HHS, the Office of Indian Education, the HHS, the Assistant Secretary for Administration for Children and Families; and the DOJ Assistant Attorney General for the Environment and Natural Resources.

The Workgroup is composed of the principal co-chairs of the ICWA Interagency Workgroup. The Workgroup will meet monthly at a state level, with principal-level meetings at least twice a year. The meetings will include representatives from state and tribal organizations, advocacy groups, and other stakeholders involved in ICWA implementation, and will be open to the public. The Workgroup will also conduct webinars and other meetings.
