Wayne Taylor leaves post as Hopi Tribe Executive Director

Louve Nasinhsnwyah
Hopi Tribe

After serving as Executive Director at the Hopi Tribe for over a year and a half, Wayne Taylor, gently notified the Hopi Tribe Council of his decision to step down. In a statement released by the Hopi Tribe, Taylor said, “My decision was not an easy one, but I believe it is the right time for me to move on.”

Taylor’s tenure at the Hopi Tribe was marked by significant achievements. Under his leadership, the Tribe made substantial progress on a number of fronts, including economic development, education, and health care.

Among the highlights of Taylor’s tenure was the completion of the Hopi Education and Health Center, a state-of-the-art facility that provides comprehensive health care services to the Hopi community.

Taylor also played a key role in the Tribe’s efforts to address climate change and promote a sustainable future. He was instrumental in the development of the Hopi Tribe’s first ever renewable energy project, a 10-megawatt solar farm that will provide clean, renewable energy to the community.

Taylor’s departure leaves a void in the leadership of the Hopi Tribe, but his legacy will continue to influence the Tribe’s future. The Hopi Tribe Council has yet to announce a replacement for Taylor.

AZ Supt. of Public Instruction Visits Hopi Reservation

Lif-Flight Posching and her little sister Trinity Posching, Diane Douglas, Arizona State Superintendent for Public Instruction made a stop at the Hopi Mission School on Monday, October 17, 2016 Listening Tour.

During their time at the Mission School, Diane Douglas held a listening session with the students and faculty. She also met with the Hopi tribal leaders and community members to discuss the challenges and opportunities facing the Hopi community.

Douglas has been a strong advocate for education in Arizona, and her visit to the Hopi Reservation was part of her ongoing efforts to address the disparities in educational outcomes for students of color.

Her visit was well-received by the Hopi community, who expressed their gratitude for her support and commitment to improving education in the reservation.

Improvements made to Hopi Days Inn Kokopelli in Sedona

Crystal Dee Hopi Tutuveni

The Hopi Tribe Economic Development Corporation (HTEDC) purchased Kokopelli Inn in 2000, which is located in east Sedona, five years ago the hotel changed its name to Days Inn Koko- peli when HTEDC obtained the Days Inn franchise. Since the hotel is now a Days Inn franchise, it is taking steps to make improvements to their rooms and services to meet the Days Inn standards.

In order to meet these standards, Chuck Thompson, HTEDC CEO said he needed to change management and began training Selene Selina, a Hopi Tribal member. “Our goal is to hire Hopi tribal members,” said Thomp- son. “Selena was trained at the Hopi Cultural Center before he was transferred to Days Inn Kokopelli.

As the season changes to autumn, Selina has learned that October will be one of their busiest months because the weather is not too cold or too hot for people to enjoy some outdoor recreation.

Days Inn Kokopelli is ready to welcome guests who choose to stay in one of the upgraded 42 rooms offering flat screen televisions, microwaves, refrigerators, coffee makers, and coffee makers.

Some of the rooms also have a Jacuzzi in which to relax after a day of hiking one of the many trails in the area. The hotel also offers a breakfast buffet of waffles, bagels, cream cheese and gravy, cereal, eggs, oatmeal, pastries, toast, coffee, juice, hot tea, and more.

Thompson said the hotel has an average of 90 to 100 positive reviews a day on their reviews on TripAdvi- sor or Wyndham review. Guests like the reasonable hotel rates that average between $89 - $130 a night, depending on the time of year and weekends. Hopi tribal members receive a discounted rate of $80 on rooms with their tribal en- rolled number.

Hotel guests said they liked the views, the continental breakfast, and location of the hotel. Hotel guests also have a great view of Bell Rock and the landscape of east Sedona.

The location of the hotel is in walking distance of restaurants and shops, and not too far from the area’s attractions. The hotel rooms are being renovated with plans to complete by next year. Some rooms were renovated with new wallpaper, décor and furniture. All hotel rooms have new appliances, linen and mattresses. The next project is to renovate the bathrooms.

Thompson said that when Selina came on board, one of the things he was tasked to do was work with employ- ees to build up morale, and improve customer service. This effort can be credited for the Days Inn Kokopelli being awarded the “2016 Best of Sedona - Hotel Mu- lit-Catagory”.

Selina said it was a shock to him and the staff because they only worked together for a short time. "Housekeepers played a big part in it because of their customer service," said Selina. "The employees interac- tion has improved a lot.”

One of the challenges the hotel faces is the need for housekeepers, with hopes to hire Hopi employees. They are trying to work on a hous- ing program through the Hopi Tribal Housing Authority for tribal members. Another opportunity the hotel has to offer is to have a tour service based out of the Days Inn, where guests can make reservations to travel to the Hopi reservation or the Grand Canyon. This is still in the process and they will make announcement once it has been established.

The Days Inn has a gift shop that features arts & crafts, soaps, magnets, water bottles, etc by Hopi artisans. Thompson said they hope to expand their inventory.

Selina welcomes Hopi tribal members to stay at the Days Inn Kokopelli. Selina is Bear clan from Shungopavi, and began her position as General Manager in April. Selina said she worked her way up from the bottom and is grateful for the opportunity to have been named for the General Man- ager position and has gained a lot of experience. “It’s a learning experience every day and there is con- stant movement here,” she commented, "but Selina."

Letter to the Editor

PHOENIX – Few too frequently, exchanges between police and community members are ugly, and the community member being shot is sometimes not so helpless as we are led to believe. This has led to an unfortunate, but growing trend of police by the police they serve.

For the editor, it is only after the facts of the incident are made public and premature weigh in on the case.

“While the police are the ones we, as a community to serve, it is the officer members that must be held accountable.”

The next running event is scheduled for Oct. 25, at the Tewa Community building; contact Carrie Onsae at (602) 326-0380. There will be a country dance as well; date and location will be announced at the race.

President Obama signs NATIVE Act legislation to boost tribal tourism economic and cultural development
Washington, D.C. – President Barack Obama signed S. 1579, the Native American Tourism and Improving Visitor Experience (NA-TIVE) Act, which requires the Departments of Commerce, the Interior, and other Federal agencies with national cultural or tourism responsibilities to develop management plans and programs to focus on the support of Indian tribes, tribal organizations, and Native Hawaiian organizations.

“This legislation is a win-win-win for America, the American Indian Alaska Native Tribal Leaders Association (AIANTA) Board of Directors President, Robert Short, said “this is an incredibly important day for Indian Country. The beginning of a large collaboration between the federal, tribal and non-profit sectors to strengthen and grow cultural tourism in the United States. We thank the President for signing the bill, Senator Brian Schatz (D-Hawaii) and John Thune (R-South Dakota) for their support in creating this legislation and all the tribal leaders who supported the NATIVE Act.”

Tourism in the United States: The NATIVE Act
Tourism is the United States’ third largest industry, and one of the largest and fastest growing sectors of U.S. jobs. The U.S. travel and tourism industry grew 18% from 2007 to 2015, and supports over 24 million jobs in direct and indirect spending, according to the U.S. Travel Association’s Credibility Campaign statistics.

“This law will empower Native Nations to tell the story of their own history, culture, and traditional ways in ways that are meaningful and authentic to tribal communities throughout the country,” said Short. The NATIVE Act includes provisions within the Indian Community Housing Act to strengthen Indian tenant organization’s ability to build affordable housing and attract investment in housing in Tribal communities. The legislation directs the Secretary of the Interior to explore new ways to increase access to resources and technical assistance needed to build sustainable recreational, cultural and tourism activities in order to support economic opportunities within Tribal communities. It also directs the Secretary of the Interior to work with Tribal leaders and others to make Tribal Bridge Loan Program funds available to Tribal communities to attract additional investments in the form of public and private capital. It authorizes the Tribal Bridge Loan Program to improve educational opportunities for Tribal communities. It also allows American Indian Tribes and Alaska Native Villages to leverage Tribal Community Development financial resources to improve housing and educational opportunities for American Indians and Alaska Natives. Lastly, the NATIVE Act establishes the Tribal Tourism Development Council to support Tribal tourism development strategies. The Council consists of 12 members with significant expertise in Tribal tourism and will be appointed by the President of the United States, with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Council is chaired by the Secretary of the Interior, and the vice-chair is a Tribal member. The Council must submit an annual report to the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate and the Committee on Natural Resources of the House of Representatives. Town Hall Meeting Oct. 5 Hopi Wellness Center

Now that the primary elections have come and gone, Karen Shupla, Hopi Elections Registrar said more Hopi people need to vote because not very many turned out for the primary elections.

"There are two propositions that will be on the ballot for the General election, which is the big one," said Shupla.

The Arizona Secretary of State will be hosting a Town Hall meeting on Oct. 5 at the Hopi Veterans Memorial Center Wellness Conference room beginning at 10 a.m. The Town Hall meeting will go over the pros and cons of Propositions 203 and 204, and to answer any questions community members may have.

Shupla hopes that community members will attend this meeting because it affects everyone, especially if they have family members who live off reservation where those propositions will affect them.

"Your voice on the topics is very important on how they may affect you in the future," said Shupla.

Proposition 203 allows individuals to possess, grow, and vend marijuana for personal use.

"This means your washings don’t mean starving yourself, but instead means eating a diet balanced in lean proteins, carbs and fats. Make sure to eat a well-balanced diet full of fresh fruits and vegetables, grains and carbohydrates, find a diet that suits your lifestyle, and balance the carbs and fats to a minimum; all diets are beneficial for your body in small doses. Remember, you can still have all the foods you have been told, not all fats are unhealthy. While "bad" fats are unhealthy, "good" fats are beneficial for the cardiovascular disease and cholesterol.

Eating a well-balanced diet gives you the energy to live a healthy lifestyle, exercise and perform your daily activities.
