Lomahaftewa awarded honorary doctorate of Humanities

Submitted By: Tatiana Lomahaftewa-Singer

Hopi tribal member Linda Lomahaftewa (Hopi/Cheyenne) was awarded an Honorary Doctorate of Humanities from the Institute of American Indian Arts (IAIA) in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

This prestigious degree was presented to Lomahaftewa during the IAIA Commencement Ceremony for the Graduating Class of 2017 on May 13.

IAIA President Dr. Robert Martin (Cherokee) stated, “Linda Lomahaftewa is being honored for her accomplishments as an artist and her lasting contributions to the Institute of American Indian Arts for the past 41 years. Lomahaftewa’s mark on the field of American and Native American Art is one achieved by very few women artists. This honorary doctorate recognizes her contributions to the field of Native Art and her role in the education of generations of artists who have passed through IAIA under her guidance.”

Lomahaftewa attended the Institute of American Indian Arts when it first opened in 1962 and earned her high school diploma in 1965. Upon receiving a full scholarship to attend the San Francisco Art Institute, she earned her BFA and MFA in painting in 1969 and 1971.

She began teaching as an Assistant Professor of Native American Art at California State College, Sonoma, CA and later as Professor of Painting, Drawing, and Native American Studies at the University of California, Berkeley from 1971-1976. It was through this position that she received an invitation from her alma mater that she returned to IAIA in 1976 to teach painting, drawing, and two-dimensional arts as Assistant Professor of Studio Arts. In addition to teaching and raising her family, Lomahaftewa continued producing art. She has been featured in important publications about Native art, including: "Women of Sweatgrass, Cedar and Sage: Native American Women in Art," "Shared Visions: Native American Painters and Sculptors of the Twenty-First Century," and "Manifestations: New Native Art Criticism.

Her work is collected in private and public institutions throughout the United States and abroad including: the Heard Museum; Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Native American Art; and the University of Leibinburg, Alberta.

Throughout her career, Lomahaftewa has been actively involved in the national and local arts community. She has served on boards such as the Native American Arts Studies Association (NAASA), the Southwest Foundation for Indian Arts (SWAIA), City of Santa Fe Arts Council, and the Hopi Education Endowment Fund.

Lomahaftewa was extremely honored to be recognized by IAIA.

What is the relationship between the Hopivewat Resource & Learning Center Project and the Hopi Cultural Preservation Office? In the 1980s, the Hopi Health Department recognized the need for cultural education to support healthy living. Leigh Kuwanwisiwma, Assistant Director, at Health Department, worked on designing the Hopivewat Resource & Learning Center Project and the Hopi Cultural Preservation Program through Resolution H-45-92. Leigh was appointed in 1989 as the Cultural Preservation Program director at the Hopivewat Resource & Learning Center. Since 1990, the HCPO has been receiving different types of collections as well as ceremonial objects that have to be cared for and determined if the cultural items are safe to be returned to the right village or society.

The HCPO is tasked with establishing the planning phase. For information call Leigh Kuwanwisiwma at 928-734-3611.

Congratulations to Cheryl Lomakema, Kokopwungwa (Fire Clan) from the Village of Sichomovi, Polacca, AZ. Lomakema graduated from the Arizona State University (ASU), School of Public Solutions with a Master of Social Work (MSW) degree on May 11, 2017. Her concentration was: Policy, Administration and Community Practice.

Prior to that, through the Advanced Standing Program, Lomakema received a Bachelor of Social Work Degree (BSW) also from ASU, in May, 2015. Her studies began at Northland Pioneer College where she graduated with an Associates of Arts degree. She then transferred to ASU to begin her advanced studies. She is proud of her accomplishments and looks forward to her new career as a Social Worker.

"My dear family, friends, and people: Be who you are, do what you love, and work to make a difference to change the world," said Lomakema. "There is no limit to what you can do. True success is giving your best in all you do, appreciating each day's opportunities, laughing, dreaming, learning and growing in life. I am determined to make contributions to my community, my Hopi people and society by digging deep, setting goals and doing what it takes to achieve them. I am ready to apply the valuable abilities in new ways as I move forward in my career as a social worker. As I accept the challenges that lead to greater things I remember and thank all those who brought me to this day: My Family, friends, ASU School of Social Work, and the ONE I have been blessed by the most, GOD. Asquali."

2017 Hopi Code Talkers Citizenship Awards

The Hopi Veterans Services staff is happy to announce the 2017 Hopi Code Talkers Citizenship Award recipients from the 6th and 8th grade classes on the Hopi Reservation. Each year the program sponsors this annual award in honor of the ten Hopi Code Talkers who used their Hopi Language during World War II in the Pacific campaigns. The local teachers of each school selected one boy and one girl for the award that consisted of a certificate, a 2017 Hopi Code Talker coin and a US/Hopi flag lapel pin. The Hopi Junior High School students received a plaque. We congratulate each of the award recipients and their proud parents for supporting them throughout the school year.

My heart is filled with pride to see you opportunities with fellow Hopi Alumni music, hors d’oeuvres and networking. But in 1887, the U.S. government arrived ago to 1887. At the time, the Hopi people before the arrival of Christopher Columbus. An enjoyable evening,” said HEEF Executive Director Kyle Knes. “It’s a great place to be able to help on this event on the Hopi reservation and networking with many other Indian reservations across the country and I was excited exactly where you are. The year was 1983 and I was a proud 21 year old Lumberjack. Sitting in the Sky dome on commencement day, my classmates were ready to take on the world, but in 1983 I was sitting exactly where you are. The NAU commencement ceremony and shaking the hands of literally thousands of NAU graduates. Let me tell you a story of my people. I am Alwungwa- Deer Clan from the Hopi family and clan relations thus weakened by their educational experience on the reservation. The number one trait of those who started college with you today was that farming in Iowa was very different. It was by virtue of your accomplishment today. Senate Committee passes McCain Bill to expand amber alert system on Native American Reservations

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Senator John McCain

Washington, D.C. – The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs today passed the AMBER Alert in Indian Country Act of 2017, legislation sponsored by Senator John McCain (R-AZ) that would expand the AMBER Alert child abduction warning system on Native American reservations by clarifying that Indian tribes are eligible for participation in the AMBER Alert program. This communication plan is used by law enforcement agencies to expedite child abduction alerts to the public. The bill would also require the DOJ to perform a needs assessment of AMBER Alert systems on Indian reservations.

“The last year, Navajo Nation law enforcement was devastated by the tragic loss of 11-year old Ashlynne Mike,” said Senator McCain. “In that high profile case, authorities did not use an AMBER Alert for Ashlynne until the day after family members reported her abduction. Accurate, timely AMBER Alert communication plans are cost-saving programs by clarifying that Indian tribes are eligible for AMBER Alert communications. These communication plans are used by law enforcement agencies to expedite child abduction alerts to the public. The bill would also require the DOJ to perform a needs assessment of AMBER Alert systems on Indian reservations.”

The DOJ currently operates a needs assessment of AMBER Alert systems by clarifying that Indian tribes are eligible for participation in the AMBER Alert program. This communication plan is used by law enforcement agencies to expedite child abduction alerts to the public. The bill would also require the DOJ to perform a needs assessment of AMBER Alert systems on Indian reservations.

Opponents of the designation are in a 15-day period for their opposition to be considered. WASHINGTON, D.C. – U.S. Senators John McCain (R-AZ) and Joni Ernst (R-IA) today introduced the AMBER Alert in Indian Country Act of 2017, legislation that would expand education options for students enrolled in Bureau of Indian Education (BIE) schools, which, despite their high cost, include some of the most competitive in the nation.

The Bears Ears has long been plagued by poor performance, low test scores, and low graduation rates despite operating as an estimated $15,000 per student – higher than the national average for a non-expense grant. Today, roughly half of BIE student do not graduate and test scores tally double digits by College Board standards. According to data produced by the Government Accountability Office, 90 percent of BIE schools in Arizona had not been inspected for safety hazards in ten years. “The federal government is failing in its responsibility to provide quality education to Native American children,” said Senator McCain. “In the past, this legislation would enable Indian tribes that create Education Savings Accounts (ESA) program to use the BIE funds via various campaigns and events. The bill would fund these services using up to 90 percent of the BIE's education, therapies, transportation, and technology needs through education savings accounts. I'm glad to be able to partner with Senator McCaskill to advance this legislation to help the next generations in our tribal communities succeed.”
