Jackson remembrance and grave marker replacement

Ralford John Jackson

Family members, villagers, officials from the Veterans Administration, the Hopi Tribe, Jamescita Peshlakai from the AZ State Legislature and many others, gathered at the family home of late Ralford Jackson in old Oraibi, AZ on May 25 for a Remembrance Ceremony and Grave Marker replacement. Jackson was drafted into the US Marine Corps during the Vietnam War period and was killed in action on May 22, 1969 in Quang Tri province in South Vietnam. His remains were transported back to the United States and laid to rest at the burial site in Oraibi Village on the Hopi Reservation. The Veterans Administration ordered a headstone for Jackson; but, when the headstone finally arrived, the family noticed a mistake on it. The marker had his residency listed as Oraibi, Utah. With the lack of resources/help to get it corrected, the family left the marker on his grave for many years. A high school friend, Hutch Noline from San Carlos, Arizona on the Apache reservation became aware of this error and promised to get it corrected. Fortunate enough for Noline, he came in contact with Jef Connors from San Francisco, CA who was doing a research project on the lives of 242 soldiers and Marines who died during the week of May 28 through June 3, 1969. The soldiers are portrayed in the June 27, 1969 issue of LIFE Magazine: "Faces of the American Dead in Vietnam – One Week's Toll." The rest is history as Connor decided to correct the error and "make it right." Chris Taylor from Waltham, MA designed the new marker and Hunt Studio from San Francisco, CA completed the carving. Many people generously donated to the replacement marker. The new marker has a picture of a feather and a parrot, symbolizing Jackson's Clan and reads as follows: Ralford John Jackson born July 15, 1948 Old Oraibi, Arizona. Died May 22, 1969, Vietnam. US Marine – Bronze Star – Purple Heart. Clark Tenakhongva, US Army, Grenada, served as Master of Ceremonies for the event. Leonard Talaswaima, US Army, Vietnam War opened with prayer, followed by the playing of the TAPS and a Flag Ceremony/Presentation of Flag to Gold Star Mother Dolly Jackson. Special comments were made by Wanda Wright, Director, Arizona Department of Veterans Services, Hopi Chairman Herman G. Honanie and Phillip Quochoytewa. Eljean Joshevama, Jackson's godfather, closed out the session with a special prayer and passing of the corn. Several Navajo/Hopi bike riders were also present at the Remembrance Ceremony. Gold Star Mother Dolly Jackson stated this will now bring closure to the burden she carries and will now put it behind her.

Thin Elk, Hopi General Counsel

Hopi Chairman Herman G. Honanie announced the hire of Theresa Thin Elk as the new General Counsel for the Hopi Tribe. Thin Elk is a member of the Colville Confederated Tribes, a confederation of twelve different tribes in Eastern Washington (descended from the Wenatchi and Entiat bands). Thin Elk graduated from Gonzaga University with a B.A. in Political Science and Criminal Justice and received her Juris Doctorate from the University of Iowa, School of Law in 2000. Her employment career includes working for her Tribe in the Office of Reservation Attorney (the Attorney General) for 8 years and for the Ho-Chunk Tribe of Wisconsin as their Legislative Counsel. Thin Elk also worked as a Prosecutor and as a Public Defender for other Indian Tribes. "I was an administrative law judge for the Colville Tribal Child Support Program and a Pro Tempore Judge for the Spokane Tribe of Indians," said Think Elk. In a recent introduction to the Hopi Tribal Council, Deputy General Counsel Karen Pennington commended them for selecting Think Elk as their General Counsel, saying "Theresa is a policy lawyer and will make great contributions to the Hopi Tribe." Pennington, who was also hired as Chief Judge for the Hopi Courts, will be leaving the Office of General Counsel to fill the long vacant Chief Judgeship. Think Elk is married to Sean Thin Elk from the Rosebud Sioux Tribe and has four children - three boys and one girl. "Theresa Thin Elk began employment with the Hopi Tribe on May 15. Please help us in welcoming her and her family to the Hopi Reservation," said Hopi Chairman Honanie.

Theresa Thin Elk, Hopi Tribe General Counsel

She said this is a new beginning and will start anew, with fresh breath and happy thoughts for a brighter future. Christine Jackson DeAngelis, daughter of Jackson was also present. Ralford Jackson's name is listed on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall in Washington D.C. Contributors to grave marker replaced listed on P4

HJSHS academic awards ceremony

Stan Bindell, Hopi Tutuveni

About 150 Hopi Jr/Sr High School students were given academic awards during the annual ceremony May 15 in the school's cafeteria.

Athletic Director Ricky Greer, serving as the emcee, thanked the parents for pushing the students behind the scenes. He thanked the teachers for their passion and leadership, and the staff for their help.

Melissa Gaseoma, special education teacher, praised the special education students and talked about the great experience of being involved with Special Olympics.

"We will try to get the games here this summer," she said.

Gaseoma thanked nine partners, or volunteers, for helping the special education students with Special Olympics.

"If not for you they wouldn't have had that," she said.

Walter Niino, an English teacher, said sometimes students curse because they have an English problem.

"It's not a parenting problem, or a discipline problem. It's an English problem," he said.

Blue Jirak, another English teacher, said Hopi students have had a tremendous impact on him.

Lynn Fredericks, another English teacher, said students need to focus in order to be dedicated to a goal.

"We can make a difference if students are focused," she said. "We need to push away the distractions."

Fredericks said she is amazed at the talent the students have.

Skip Keith, who teaches U.S. history, recounted how on this day in 1905 Las Vegas was founded; on this day in 1941 Joe DiMaggio began his 56 game hitting streak; on this day in 1940 nylon stockings went on sale; and on this day in 2008 the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in favor of same sex marriage.

Rodney Harris, a science teacher, recounted how he left Hopi High and then returned.

"Because once you've been to Hopiland you have to come home," he said.

Lavonne Honyouti, another science teacher, said the academic awards banquet is one of her favorite events.

"One of my goals is to be here as long as Mr. Flud," she said about longtime geography teacher Gerald Flud.

Major James Cox, head of the Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps, thanked the families for trusting them with their children.

Ducey vetoes bill that would have protected HS journalism students and teachers supported by Navajo legislators

Stan Bindell, Hopi Tutuveni

PHOENIX, AZ- Arizona Gov. Doug Ducey vetoed a bill May 22 that would have protected high school journalism teachers and journalism students. The bill was supported by all three Navajo legislators.

Gov. Ducey told Capitol Media Services that he supports First Amendment rights for journalism students as long as they are supervised and can be overridden by school principals and administrators.

Representative of the Arizona Newspaper Association and Arizona Interscholastic Press Association were among those who were unhappy with the governor’s ruling and believed it showed a lack of understanding on the governor’s part about how high school journalism works.

The Arizona House of Representatives and the Arizona State Senate passed bills that would give Arizona public school journalism students and their teachers more protection for responsible journalism in high school newspapers.

The three legislators from the Navajo Nation state legislative district all voted for the bill, known as Senate Bill 1384. Sen. Jamescita Peshlakai, Rep. Winona Benally and Rep. Eric Descheenie voted for the bill.

Paula Casey, executive director of the Arizona Newspaper Association and one of the key supporters of the bill, said the bill had widespread support including the Deans from Arizona State University and University of Arizona. The bill also had the backing of the Student Law Press Center and the Arizona Interscholastic Press Association.

The main sponsor of the bill was Arizona State Sen. Majority Leader Kimberly Yee. Yee has been seeking a similar bill for the past 25 years when she attended Greenway High School and wrote for the school newspaper, the Demon Dispatch. Yee, according to the Arizona Republic, wrote a story about drug dealing in the school’s parking lot along with a caricature of the school’s principal. Both were censored.

Yee served as the keynote speaker at an AIPA conference about seven months ago when she learned that the bill she was hoping for back in 1992 had never passed.

“She was taken aback that it had not passed and she was anxious to see it pass so she sponsored the bill,” Casey said. “Having a sponsor with experience in censorship and someone from the majority party was important.”

The bill applies to public schools, state universities and community colleges. It does not apply to private schools or federal schools such as Bureau of Indian Education schools. Student supervisors, such as teachers or advisors, remain responsible for overseeing content.

The bill passed the Senate 29-0 with one member not voting, but there was more controversy in the House where it passed 41-19. The bill is part of a New Voices drive that is sweeping the country and similar bills have been passed in 12 states.

Casey said the House members who voted against it thought it would give high school journalism students free rein. Far from that scenario, the bill does not allow libel, slander, invasion of privacy, anything that violates state or federal laws, anything lewd or obscene and states that high school papers must have guidelines for covering content in a manner that is responsible, fair and accurate.

“The reality is that students have to answer to their teachers and advisors,” Casey said. “They won’t allow them to do anything that is not in the best interest of the class.”

The bill would protect the journalism students and advisors from administrators who did not like the stories for any reason.

“This would protect teachers and advisors from feeling that their jobs are being threatened,” Casey said. “Students do good work. Some administrators say 14-15 year olds are not mature enough to do good stories, but we’ve seen that they can.”

Casey said high school journalists are the future journalists, so they deserve support.

“If they get a bad taste in their mouth in high school because they are being censored then they may not want a career in journalism. They should have the right to tell unbiased stories,” Casey said. “They should not be censored for no good reason. When you look at the newspaper every day you see stories you don’t like. That doesn’t mean they shouldn’t be written.”

SB 1384 passed the House May 8, passed the Senate May 9 and was sent to the governor May 10.

HJSHS students perform at Talent Show on May 12

Marie Mahkewa and Hawthorne Dukepoo perform a duet at talent show

Stan Bindell
Hopi Tutuveni

Hopi Jr/Sr High School had a talent show May 12 that gave the students and teachers a chance to show off their abilities.

Serena Leslie, a junior, was thrilled to perform with classmates Stacy Charlie, Hailey Cordell and Jacob Poleviyoama. Charlie, Cordell and Leslie performed “Hallelujah.” Poleviyoama and Leslie also played the keyboards for “Halleluah.” The quartet sang “All I Want” with Cordell on guitar.

“The talent show was spectacular and performing for the school was a great experience,” Leslie said. “The audience really enjoyed the song “Halleluah.” As we started singing, the audience brought out their flashlights and swayed their arms in the air.”

Leslie said the highlight of the talent show was seeing Bolus lip synching to “Diva” by Beyoncé. She said the talent show was well organized and went smoothly, but she wished the school could provide more and better equipment next year.

“Next year, I would definitely like to learn more songs to perform with the two girls and guy I have performed with because I think we work well together,” she said.

Leslie said the talent show motivates her to keep her talent and carry it with her to the future “because it’s a special gift that most people can’t do so I am thankful for the opportunity to make myself known.”

Her advice to other students who are going to perform is to know what kind of song you are doing and to not be afraid.

Bolus said he enjoyed dancing to the lip sync of Beyoncé’s song.

“It went well and smooth. It was fun,” he said.

Bolus said the audience was excited and surprised with his performance.

“The highlight of the talent show was when my friends Hailey (Cordell) and Stacy (Charlie) sang,” he said.

Bolus said he would like to see better equipment next year. He said the talent show motivates him to do more next year. He said seeing his teachers perform was great.

Hopi Jr. High School 8th Grade Promotion, May 17

NEWS RELEASE
Hopi Jr.Sr. High School
Governing Board

Hopi Junior High School held its 8th Grade Promotion Ceremony May 17, at the Hopi Bruin’s Stadium. Over 800 well-wishers observed the sixty 8th grade students promoted to high school.

Hopi Junior High Principal Lucille Sidney gave the Welcome Address. In Hopi she said, “Askwali, uma soosoyom oki! Nu halay-ti! Translated it is a Hopi welcome to students, parents, family members and guests. Special guests included Hopi Tribal Chairman Herman Honanie and the First Lady; Hopi Tribal Vice Chairman Alfred Lomahquaha; Governing Board President Ivan Sidney Sr., Governing Board Clerk Laurel Poleyestewa, and Governing board Members Edgar Shupla and Sandra Dennis; Interim Superintendent Alban Naha Jr., Dean of Students Charlene Youvella, staff and faculty for joining the students in celebrating their achievement.

Hopi Tribal Chairman Herman Honanie in an interview said, “The world is at their feet. They need to continue to apply themselves and to listen to people who can help guide them.

Honanie said, “I want to encourage all the parents to keep supporting their children. Education is something that we need to pursue to have a quality life. I told students they have high intelligence and aspirations. They need to define their goals and education is a key.”

“This evening we celebrate their success and the experience they have gained. I want to take this time to express appreciation as we encourage them to start looking to their future. It is really important to take this time with family, and to focus on their high aspirations,” said Chairman Honanie.

During his public address Chairman Honanie said, “So, dream big. Go as far as you can. You are going to be the leaders who are going to be the future. An educated Indian is a dangerous Indian.”

Principal Sidney welcomed the former Bruins back to their home. “As a Bruin Alum, I am very appreciative of the education I received at Hopi Junior-Senior High School. My loyalty to our school is strong, and I know that our students value their time here as well and share in the spirit of our school,” she said.

“We are here to observe an important milestone in our children’s educational path. Junior High School is a significant time of exploration and learning that takes place as our children begin to define their identities and character. They have begun to learn important life lessons that will stay with them through adulthood,” Sidney said.

Sidney reminded the audience that the Junior High was established to allow Hopi children to attend school in their own community and to provide students with opportunities to learn about their culture, traditions, language, and history.

Parents were forced to send their children to boarding schools off reservation until 1980 when the first combined Junior and Senior High School was built on land set aside for the schools by First Mesa Consolidated Villages.

Sidney reminded students that their success is a celebration of their academic achievement and there are many more experiences they will journey through high school and into college or a career of their choice. Sidney told students they are “STARS!”

Vice Chairman Alfred Lomahquaha said “It was a great graduation and students are moving on to learn more responsibility.”

Lomahquaha reiterated the importance of students learning about their culture. He said, «It is who they are going to be. A lot of kids go to college and they want to feel they belong. Because they don’t know who they are, kids start looking for groups to join that give them an identity.”

He said if they know who they are as Hopi they are going to be less likely to deviate from their values. “You can always lean on your culture and it is going to help you gain perspective. I want the kids to remember they are Hopi and where they are going,” said Lomahquaha.

Briann Laban, of the class of 2008 gave the Keynote address. Laban reflected on her time as a student at Hopi Junior and Senior High School. “I am very appreciative of the education I received at Hopi Junior-Senior High School.” She reminded students they will always reflect on the education and experiences they learned at the school.

Ian Honanie, 8th Grade Salutatorian, was introduced by Governing Board Clerk Laurel Poleyestewa, Salutatorian Honanie said, “This was a great year.” She reminded students of the importance of education.

Halie Tewa, 8th Grade Valedictorian, was introduced by Governing Board President Ivan Sidney.

Valedictorian Tewa said, “It is a big honor to be selected as Valedictorian.” She talked about how scary it was to start Junior High and how it felt the first time she flew on a plane. She reminded students they have 4 more years of school and the importance of completing school. She said, “it is something you will be proud of accomplishing.”

The top 10 students of the 8th Grade Class were recognized by Kay Lowe the student’s Academic Advisor. Lowe said the students were at the top 10 percent of the class. Students earned the award by attaining two full years of study with a high academic grade point average.

Lowe said, “Students receiving this award faced many social and academic challenges but have been able to maintain positive leadership, and academic performance at Hopi Junior High.

The honorees are: Halie Tewa, Ian Honanie, Alexis Poleyestewa, Corina Colletata, Tiana Bennett, Emlisha Adams, Joylynn Perry Gabriel Harris, Chanelle Nodman, and Skylan Masawyetewa.”

Lowe on behalf of the Junior High School teachers and staff congratulated parents and family for supporting the student’s high academic performance.

Interim Superintendent Alan Naha expressed his appreciation to the students and community. Naha said, “it takes all of us working together to develop opportunities that allow students to achieve excellence in education.”

Governing Board President Sidney formally announced the Presentation of Promotion for the Class of 2017. Sidney said he is proud of the students adding all of us have high expectations for their academic growth as they continue their education endeavors at Hopi High. Student Roll Call conducted by class sponsor Juwan Nuvayokva,

Principal Sidney in closing remarks expressed her gratitude to all who contributed to the program and for those behind the scenes who worked tirelessly to bring the ceremony to completion: teachers, aides, facilities, security, cafeteria staff, Mrs. Honyumptewa– Junior High Secretary and Mrs. Keith– Promotion Organizer. She closed the program stating, “I leave you with the following to reflect on: The Class Motto that the students have selected is a tribute to the exact purpose of our gathering, In our hands we hold today; in our dreams we hold tomorrow; in our hearts we hold forever. As I read that motto, my heart swells with pride because I am encouraged that our children have all of us in their minds and hearts and are truly mindful of the teachings that Hopi has given them. Let all of us continue to nurture our children and demonstrate through our own actions and our words the values that we hold as Hopi Sinom.”

HJSHS hosts School Improvement Plan training by BIE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Hopi Jr/Sr High School Governing Board
Bertha Parker, Public Relations

The Hopi Junior-Senior High School Governing Board and Bureau of Indian Education Bureau (BIE) recently hosted a Training Workshop for all Hopi schools. BIE provided training on the development of the annual School Improvement Plan due at the end of May.

Invited to participate in the one and half day workshop included all the Hopi Governing Boards, Superintendents, Principals, Teacher Leadership Teams, and Parent Advisory Committees.

“The Bureau supports the creation of school-wide processes and structures to support tribal schools and provides support to school districts in creating and sustaining district-wide initiatives,” said Hopi Junior High School Governing Board President Ivan Sidney.

“All our Hopi schools have similar issues and we need to share our resources and collaborate with each other. These session provided us with an opportunity to begin that process,” he said.

Two of the Bureau’s expert consultants Laura Tsosie and Jack Edmo facilitated the training. “Their specialized knowledge and experience in school reform helped coalesce the School Improvement Plan into workable segments,” said Interim Hopi Superintendent Alban Naha.

The workshop included a blend of instruction, video analysis, resource sharing, peer collaboration, and feedback. The Bureau focused on advanced practices in development and implementation.

Sidney said, “The training provided participants with the skills and knowledge needed to design, assess, and manage a rigorous School Improvement Plan”.

“We want to empower our students to think critically about the challenges they face. By working together we provide a working model that our students can emulate, he added. “This is the first of many meetings we intend to develop with the cooperation of BIE that include all the Hopi schools. BIE has encouraged us to continue with the process started at this first training session.”

“By sharing resources and opportunities our Hopi Schools have a better opportunity to provide students with opportunities to achieve excellence in education,” said Sidney.”We appreciate the participation in the sessions by representatives from Hopi Day, Moencopi, the Hopi Jr/Sr High PAC, teachers, and community members.”

Hopi Junior Senior High School Website Improved

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Hopi Jr/Sr High School Governing Board
Bertha Parker, Public Relations

Polacca, Ariz- The Hopi Junior High School Governing Board is pleased to announce the Hopi Junior Senior High School Website, www.hjhsj.org, now provides the community with immediate access to Governing Board meeting dates, press releases issued by the Governing Board, and approved school events that are brought to the attention of the Governing Board, said Ivan Sidney, President of the Governing Board.

“On the www.hjhsj.org site this morning are photos of our Hopi Senior High School students waiting to board the school’s bus taking the students on their Senior Trip to Disneyland, Sea World, Universal Studios, the beach, and other fun-filled locations,” he said.

To access the school website go to your web browser and in the address bar type www.hjshs.org. If you type in Hopi Junior Senior High School you will be taken to an obsolete website. The old website belongs to the State of Arizona and the site is no longer utilized by the school district.

The technology department and communications consultants are asking the state to eliminate the site or refer visitors to the official site www.hjshs.org. to avoid confusion.

“Parents and community members contacted the Governing Board complaining about poor communication from the school. Our public asked for more and improved communication. In consultation with our Interim Superintendent the Governing Board determined the need to hire a specialist in communication,” said Sidney.

“The firm conducted an analysis of the information systems currently utilized to keep parents, teachers, and the community informed. The analysis by the firm indicates a number of changes need to be incorporated that can be accomplished in a cost-effective manner. After meeting with the school’s technology expert, Kenny Wartz, they worked together to implement a program that provides immediate information to the public,” he said.

Changes in the website made earlier in the week included the incorporation of Governing Board Meeting Announcements along with the agenda for the meeting. The firm also recommended posting announcements such as the 8th Grade Promotion Ceremony and Hopi High School Graduation and other events.

“The consulting firm reported Kenny is a wizard at technology and that he understood the importance of implementing changes on the website that provide immediate information to the public,” he said. “We will keep you continually informed of the improved communication programs as they are implemented. Go to www.hjshs.org to keep current with the latest news, activities, and announcements.»

“We are pleased to inform the public that the Governing Board acted on their request for improved communication. We hired a specialist that found gaps in the communication and information system and process currently used. Interim Superintendent Alban Naha and the Governing Board are overseeing the changes,” said Sidney.

To access press releases and student photos of current activities go to www.hjshs.org. When the site opens you will see a photo of student graduates. It will take about 8 seconds and the site will roll over to recent photos posted tied to Press Releases. To speed up the rotation of the photos there are white arrows on each side. Click on the arrows and the photos will roll to the next photo. At some point new wording will improve explaining the event. For example, this morning’s press release reports on Hopi’s Seniors on their way to Disneyland. Click on the picture and immediately the Press Release associated with the photos will pop-up onto the screen. Scroll to the end of the press release and you will find more photos of our students.

“One of the goals is to keep the site continuously updated. The senior trip press release and photos will change when a ‘new’ press story and photos are released to the media. This morning a story about a two-week summer program in math and science will be posted. SIPI is offering a ‘free tablet’ to seniors that attend and free room and board,” said Sidney.

“More exciting changes are coming. Please keep informed. The technology we have available to us today provides opportunities that were not available in the past. The Governing Board does listen to its constituents and will do what they can within budgetary constraints to address those needs. Go to www.hjshs.org. Stay informed,” concluded Sidney.

Hopivewat Museum Project

Gloria Lomahaftewa
Hopivewat Museum Project

What is a museum? Some Hopi people still have negative views about museums. This is because of what anthropologists, archeologists and collectors had done in the past by taking things from Hopi people and Hopi lands, starting in the late 1800s through the 1930’s, which ended up in museums collections .

Another negative opinion was that most of these museums that had Hopi exhibits, many in the eastern United States, were too far away from Hopi people to benefit from seeing them. Photographs taken of Hopi people, many of them without permission, were later used in museum exhibits and news articles. Many exhibits about Hopis were often presented with life size mannequins to represent Hopis doing everyday activities like planting, hunting, making piiki, grinding corn, carving, etc. If by chance Hopi people saw any of the exhibits they would come home and tell everyone what they saw which would be the view thereon.

Museums, for example, would use photographs of Hopis to make their mannequins to look life-like. They looked too real. Some elders talked about someone from one of the villages being in a museum exhibit making piiki. They felt sorry for her because they thought this person had to stay there and work all the time.

The Hopivewat Resource & Learning Center will be more like a cultural center. This is to be a place where Hopi people would want to go to visit and enjoy. The big dream is to make this a cultural education learning center with educational exhibits, a library, language learning center, classrooms, along with a storage place to care for special Hopi artifacts. This Center will be inter-generational to tell the Hopi story.

We welcome public participation during the planning phase. For information call Gloria Lomahaftewa at 928-734-3623 or Leigh Kuwanwisiwma at 928-734-3611.

Hopi Jr. Sr. High School Teacher Appreciation Week

Stan Bindell
Hopi Tutuveni

POLACCA, ARIZ.---Hopi Jr./Sr High School teachers were honored with certificates and pins May 12 as they were recognized for their years of service in five year increments ranging from five to 30 years during an assembly in the school’s auditorium as part of Teacher Appreciation Week.

Hopi Jr/Sr High School Student Council brought the teachers apples, cookies and cupcakes during the week to show appreciation for their hard work.

Michael Tenakhongva, who was recognized for teaching for ten years at the school, told the students that the reason the teachers are here are because of the them.

“We want you to have the best future,” he said. “There are times when we might not see eye to eye, but we hope you understand we have the best of intentions for you.”

Tenakhongva, who graduated from Hopi High School, said the job is enjoyable, especially when the teacher can see that the student understands what they are teaching.

Rick “The Legend” Baker, physical education teacher and longtime champion boys cross country coach, said the secret to longevity is a love and a passion for the career.

“I say that every day is Friday because I love being here,” he said. “You have to find a job that you love and surround yourself with good people. I’ve been here for 30 years and I still like it.”

Garlyn Navakuku, director of facilities at HJSHS, recounted how he took the job in July of 1986 when the school was still under construction.

“The 30 years went quick. You have to have the passion for what you do,” he said.

Navakuku said there is no experience like being part of your community every day.

“I totally enjoy what I do and I bleed Bruin blue. I hope all you teachers and students come back next year,” he said.

Gerald Flud, longtime geography teacher at HJSHS, recounted how he taught the parents and grandparents of many of today’s students.

Flud recalls holding a baby in his arms at basketball games and now that baby is one of his students.

“This is my home away from home,” he said.

Flud, who comes from Oklahoma, said if anybody from Hopi comes out to his reservation in Oklahoma that they will return the kindness that was found here.

Chuck Villa, who works in the facilities department, told the students that they would like to see all the students come back, graduate and make themselves proud.

English teacher Walter Niino and science teacher Eva Bahnimptewa were recognized for having perfect attendance during the school year.

Congratulations
Class of 2017!

Judith Namoki, Water Clan from the Village of Mishongnovi (father is Spider Clan from Tewa Village), was recently hired as Coordinator for Elderly Services at the Village of Tewa. Namoki said she is a believer of giving back to the community and is grateful to be working with the Hopi/Tewa Elder group. Namoki previously worked with 3rd grade children in Oakland, CA as a reading/comprehension teacher before moving back to the Hopi Reservation. “It is great to be back on Hopi land surrounded by relatives and immersed in our Culture. I hope to see and meet everyone in my travels. Remember to smile and Love One Another,” said Namoki.

Letters to Editor Opinions / Views

Dear Editor:

I write this letter out of my concern as a parent to a graduating student this year and how the Hopi Junior/Senior High School chooses to administer the academic, counseling and monitoring of student records to ensure that all of their students who expect to graduate do just that, graduate with the proper recognition and diploma. This concern affected me and my family very deeply and with much disappointment on how unprofessional staff performed prior to the 2017 graduation ceremony.

The graduation ceremony that took place on May 18th, 2017 was to be a very happy, proud and joyous occasion for me and my family. We watched our son address his classmates, friends and their families by providing a welcome and blessing for them in the duration of the graduation ceremony. During this event, my son was recognized and presented an award by the Hopi Junior/Senior High School National Honor Society for graduating in the top 10 of his senior class.

Upon close of the event, we were directed to the Hopi Bruin Den to obtain my son’s diploma. We were somewhat confused and to our surprise, we were told that we would need to speak with the high school principal and counselor to get an explanation and find out why he did not receive his diploma with everyone else. My son and I located Ms. Monongye, his Counselor and Ms. Lucille Sidney, Acting Junior High Principal. My son, father Lloyd Honyumtewa and myself were taken into Ms. Monongye’s office to discuss the situation.

In the office, we were told that my son would not receive his diploma because he was ½ a credit short in meeting his graduation requirements, this being in Algebra I. What is going on that he/we should be notified of this “deficiency” at, literally, the moment of his graduation? This was for a class that should have been taken in his freshman year. Why did it take four (4) whole years for the academic administration to realize my son was lacking mandatory credits in order to graduate? As you know, my son is an honor student and has taken advanced math classes throughout his high school tenure. What is wrong with your system of academicians who are supposed to be counseling and providing proper educational administration guidance in matters like this? What is so wrong that this can happen?

I am sure that one of the core responsibilities of an academic counselor is to counsel a student about graduation requirements, track progress, make adjustments as needed, and to make sure that all mandatory requirements will be met. If a new counselor is assigned then that person should pick up where the previous counselor left off. This is how true professionals do it. To do otherwise and “drop the ball” is inexcusable.

Upon completion of our discussion, we were told that my son would have to attend summer school in order to get his diploma. I told the two staff people that this was not an option. I felt that this oversight or gross error was no fault of ours and that it needed to be rectified. As a student and as parents, we prioritized and completed our tasks for FAFSA, scholarships and early enrollment to ensure that my son had all required paperwork completed prior to deadlines given. My son’s summer plans were already set in stone. He will go to the NAU Star Program starting June 1st through June 30th and he will start as a freshman at NAU in the fall.

Although this experience caused our entire family great consternation and inconvenience, the outcome was good. I hate to even think about what would have happened if this was not remedied. However, it never should have happened in the first place. My last concern is for those at Hopi High who will follow in our steps. For their sake, please get your “shop in order” so that nobody has to experience something like this.

To Editor, Tutuveni:

On May 25, 2017, eligible and registered Hopi citizens will vote, by mail, to accept or reject the seven (7) changes to the Hopi Constitution. Will not vote, not because I missed the registration deadline, but I personally do not believe it will change the Hopi Tribal Council’s (jokingly called Hopi Trouble Council) behavior.

The Hopi Constitution, which is the law that governs Hopi-Tewa Sinom is outdated, vague and possibly illegal, but it can still be used to make our lawmakers behave responsibly.

Today, there are many complaints, some documented, of violations of civil rights protected under the Hopi and the U.S. Constitution. The complaints/allegations include violations of civil rights of individuals, allegations of fraud, misuse and unauthorized use of general funds and serious neglect of duty.

So far, no one has gone to prison because Hopi is a small close-knit society. And as such we are all related by blood and clans. People are reluctant to file lawsuits because they have no money to hire a lawyer and, fear of losing their jobs, and because we do not want to send out relatives to prison.

The Hopi Tribe is a union of twelve independent village and retains its original sovereignty. As such they have superior authority over the Hopi Tribal Council. This was affirmed by the Hopi Appellate Court in Bacavi Village on the “Question of Law” to determine if Hopi Tribal Council has authority to reinstate representatives who were recalled by the governing body of Bacavi.

The common criticism I keep hearing from the people is the representatives only work for themselves and they do nothing constructive to earn $35,000. This, of course, does not apply to all members of the Hopi Council. Some are trying their best of carry out the Hopi Constitution they took an oath to uphold.

Now, there is an appearance of Serious Neglect of Duty committed by legislators for failing to come up with a specific plan to address the significant impacts of the closure of Navajo Generating Station by the end of this year. This means royalty money paid to run our government by Salt River Project, ends December 31, 2017.

What is needed, in my opinion, is to replace the constitutional form of central government with a different from of government drafted by us, members of the Hopi Tribe, not the BIA. This will take time. In the meantime, we need to take specific actions to force the Hopi Tribal Council to act responsibly. We can begin by calling for an investigation into the allegations of misuse and unauthorized use of general funds paid to attorneys. If sufficient evidence is found that violations have been committed then criminal charges may have to be filed. Unfortunately, this is the only way to wake up our law and policy makers, the Hopi Tribal Council.

This is my opinion and I take full responsibility. The Hopi Constitution gives all members of the Hopi Tribe the freedom to express their opinions without fear of reprisal.
