ADDRESS SERVICE REQUESTED

Kykotsmovi, Ariz. – Tuesday, March 31, 2020, the Hopi Tutuveni continues to operate as an essential program of the Hopi Tribe as it provides written and online information, education and a community service to the Hopi villages, communities and public.

As of Friday, March 27, 2020 Roger Tungovia transferred command to Edison Tu'tsi, who now serves as Incident Commander. It was also reported by Hopi Tutuveni, that a special insert, dedicated to communication from the Hopi Tribe's "Emergency Operation Center (EOC)" would be included in the April 1, 2020 publication. The offer was originally presented to Tungovia on Monday, March 23, 2020.

On Tuesday, March 30, 2020 Hopi Tutuveni received an update from Edison Tu'tsi Incident Commander, EOC, Hopi Emergency Response Team (HERT) regarding communications and public information.

Mr. Tu'tsi clarified that in accordance with Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) requirements, the terms being used should be corrected; one being the use of Emergency Operations Center rather than "Incident Command Center." Mr. Tu'tsi reiterated several times that the Incident Commander, as well as the HERT personnel, will be operating out of the Emergency Operations Center.

Examples of FEMA required documents, such as the 'ICS CHECKLIST' for the "FINANCE/ADMINISTRATION SECTION," which describes incident management activities, primary focus, roles, purpose and tasks was shared with Hopi Tutuveni. The examples gave context to what is required of the Emergency Operations Center personnel since the March 17, 2020 Tribal Emergency Declaration was executed.

The current EOC Staff are: Madeline Sahneyah – Operations, Felicia Yaiva -Finance/Administration, Jolette Arrieta – Logistics, and Greg Sehongva – Planning

Hopi Senom Transit Work and Staffing Plan NOTICE

Introduction

This Work and Staffing Plan was developed in response to the COVID-19 Novel Coronavirus pandemic of 2020, a Hopi Tribal and National Emergency. This plan will provide guidance on reducing the number of staff needed to perform necessary services as well as administrative and operating functions and activities. The plan is subject to change as the COVID-19 situation develops.

Hopi Senom Transit Staffing Structure

Hopi Senom Transit staffing structure consists of Operating functions which includes drivers and vehicles and Administrative functions that includes grant compliance and administrative duties. The following plan will assist Operating and Administrative managers, supervisors, and staff in carrying out their responsibilities while assuring their safety and security in the operation of Hopi Senom Transit services.

Operating Employees Weekly Schedule

To minimize prolonged contact with the large numbers of people that use Transit services, the Flagstaff and Midday Routes have been suspended for at least 8 weeks from the March 17, 2020, issuance date of Executive Order #01-2020. A weekly rotating-leave schedule for our 5 active drivers has been developed with 3 drivers on duty for the Winslow, Keams Canyon and Tuba City routes and with 2 drivers off every service day. A draft Drivers Schedule is attached.

Administrative Employees Weekly Schedule

To minimize prolonged contact with members of the general public that frequent the Transit Office as well as with other Tribal Employees, a weekly rotating-leave schedule has been put in place for the 2 Administrative employees. The weekly rotating schedule shall have one Administrative employee working 4 days with one day off and with the second employee working 3 days with 2 days off. The two employees will rotate weeks to minimize time spent in the office. Consecutive days off will be avoided with the exception of Mondays and Fridays off. The Administrative Schedule may change due to essential Administrative duties and timelines that require the employee to be in the office.

In addition, the Transit office will be closed to the public to minimize risk to our employees.

Transportation Supervisor Weekly Schedule

The Transportation Supervisor is both an Operating and Administrative employee. He is directed to be off duty at least one day a week with two days off a week optimal. The Transportation Supervisor schedule will be developed weekly due to essential Operating and Administrative duties that require the employee to be in the office or in the field.

Working from Home (Telework)

It is not possible for Operating employees to work from home as their duties entail vehicle operation as well as cleanliness and maintenance of their assigned vehicle.

A fair amount of Administrative work can be done from home, however, an internet connection and a laptop computer will be necessary. Our office has one laptop and no portable internet connection; one Administrative employee does have DSL at home as does the Transportation Supervisor. Both Administrative employees and the Transportation Supervisor have program-assigned cell phones.

Point of Contact

Do not hesitate to contact Donovan Gomez, Transit Administrator, at 928-734-3231 or at mobile number 928-401-5518 regarding the Hopi Senom Transit Work & Staffing Plan.

Temporary Closure of the Hopi Cultural Preservation Office

On March 17, 2020, the Hopi Tribe issued Executive Order #01-2020 concerning the COVID-19 pandemic. Therefore, the HCPO staff will do their part to prevent the spread of this virus and practice social distancing to flatten the curve by working from home. This temporary closure will take effect at 1:00 pm on March 20, 2020 and continue through April 3, 2020. HCPO will reevaluate this temporary closure based on the state of the pandemic, and reserves the right to extend the closure if necessary.

Please be advised that HCPO will not be able to respond to Archaeology Survey Request, Tribal Consultation, Section 106 compliance, and other requests designated to the office. You may continue to email HCPO, but please be informed that responses may be delayed. HCPO staff will do their best to continue to reply to emails despite the limited access to technology on the Hopi reservation.

The Hopi Cultural Preservation Office Staff thank you for your understanding as we all pray in unison to get past these uncertain times. Kwakwha/Askwali.

StrongHearts Native Helpline Offers Safety Planning Tips on Social Media

CC Hovie,
Communications Manager
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

(EAGAN, Minn., March 28, 2020) — Domestic violence victims/survivors are more isolated than ever and feel trapped with their abusers. StrongHearts Native Helpline understands that victims may not have a safe opportunity to call a helpline; therefore, in order to reach and help as many people as possible, they are re-focusing their social media strategy. They will be focusing their efforts to share culturally-specific safety planning tips, self-care and encouragement. Their Facebook, Twitter and Instagram pages will continue to offer regular tips on how friends and family members of those living in domestic violence situations can help. At this time, the StrongHearts website and social media sites are not equipped for support services.

StrongHearts is also a resource for service providers and can help them problem-solve during the pandemic.

The National Domestic Violence Hotline, a non-Native Hotline, offers online chat services which some victims/survivors may find easier to access during self-isolation.

StrongHearts Native Helpline (1-844-7NATIVE) will continue to operate and offer services daily from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Central Daylight Time. Advocates are standing by and ready to listen.

Hopi Foundation Adapting, Still Working to Serve Community

Ryan Tafoya
The Hopi Foundation
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Kykotsmovi, AZ – While nothing in the past several weeks were “business as usual”, nonprofits in Arizona are still preparing for Arizona Gives Day, with some alterations. Arizona Gives Day is an online giving campaign created to generate support and awareness for the state’s non-profit organizations.

At The Hopi Foundation, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit that has existed in Arizona since 1985, all staff are working remotely and many vital services are on hiatus or re-shaping the way they work to meet their mission and purpose. The Hopi VITA Partnership had to suspend its free tax services and the HOPI Substance Abuse Prevention Center has cancelled AA meetings and must hold their 1-1 mentoring sessions by phone.

During this pandemic, KUYI – Hopi Radio has been crucial to Hopi and surrounding communities receiving pertinent information. “KUYI is broadcasting critical health & public safety information to our community so it can draw from its own resilient past & move forward into a healthy future,” stated Station Manager, Richard Davis.

The Natwani Coalition had to postpone or cancel many of its farming and planting workshops due to the mandated shut-in. Funds raised for AZ Gives Day help to reaffirm and preserve traditional farming practices through supporting initiatives of the program such as Community Workshops, Community Grant Program, Hopi Farm Talk, and Hopi Seed Initiative. “Our initiatives help to support our overall mission which is ‘to preserve and strengthen the healthy food system and agricultural traditions of the Hopi and Tewa people,’” said Natwani Program Manager, Terri Honani.

The Hopi Leadership Program has provided a cultural and modern approach to growing both adult and youth leaders but their sessions are on hold until further developments. “As we face the pandemic of the Coronavirus, it is imperative that we look towards cultivating these leaders in our community to help address the specific and unique needs of Hopi,” said Samantha Honani, Program Manager for Hopi Leadership.

The Hopi Opportunity Youth Initiative (HOYI) has participated in Arizona Gives Day since their launch in 2013. “Since this time, we’ve been able to launch pilot projects that address the ever-changing ways in which our children learn and thrive in today’s world,” Hannah Honani, Program Manager for HOYI, stated. “We serve as a convener and facilitator that brings various stakeholders and passionate community leaders together to help build a community-led, collective impact strategy to address our vulnerable youth.”

The Hopi Foundation would normally invite the public to learn more about their programs and services at their annual Open House but instead hopes the public will join them on social media in celebrating milestones towards their fundraising goal of $35,000. Additionally, the Foundation and its programs will host a Virtual Pledge Run to generate support for Arizona Gives Day, and to encourage people to be active during this crisis. The ‘virtual’ format means that participants can run where and when they want and then send in their times to compare with other runners. Registration for the virtual run is open and participants can choose to run either a 1 or 2 mile, or a 5K on their favorite trail on April 4th, 5th, or 6th. Runners are encouraged to post a photo or video from their run with the hashtags #Hopi-GivesMiles #HopiGives #AZGivesDay #philanthrHopi.

To learn more about or to register for the Hopi Foundation’s Virtual Pledge Run, please visit bit.ly/HopiMiles. To learn more about or donate Hopi Foundation and any of its programs for Arizona Gives Day, visit bit.ly/AZGD-HF1.

Here is what you need to know about COVID-19 testing procedure, who can and should get tested and how long it takes to get your results back.

In Arizona, COVID-19 testing is done by 2 commercial laboratories, Sonora Quest and LabCorp, or through the Arizona State Laboratory. The test detects the presence of the virus that causes COVID-19 and is for use with patients who have signs and symptoms consistent with COVID-19. If you are tested at Hopi Health Care Center for COVID-19, you can expect at least a 3-6 day turnaround time. Because the test is sent out via UPS or another courier, COVID-19 tests conducted on the weekend may have a longer wait time. Once results are complete, the Hopi Health Care Center Public Health Department will contact you, as well as, follow up with any others that you may have had contact with. This process is in coordination with Arizona State and County Health Departments.

The preferred specimen is collected by a nasopharyngeal (NP) swab in viral transport medium. The specimen is collected at Hopi Health Care Center by inserting the NP swab into the patient's nose and left in for a few seconds to absorb the secretions. The specimen is then labeled, dated, and shipped frozen to either to Sonora Quest Laboratory or the Arizona State Laboratory. Both labs have about a 3-6 day turnaround time. Currently, commercial lab testing is considered presumptively positive and is confirmed by the Arizona State Laboratory, but patients should be managed if they are positive.

Rapid influenza diagnostic tests (or "flu" swabs) detect influenza viral antigens, or proteins, in respiratory tract specimens. It is also collected using a NP swab, but a different type of NP swab than the COVID-19 test, and can be processed onsite by our laboratory. The test can provide results in approximately 15 minutes.

TICK-TACK-TOE

2019 Novel Coronavirus (2019-nCoV) – General Public Information UPDATE

Royce Jenkins, Director - Department of Health and Human Services - Hopi Tribe Kykotsmovi, Ariz. – Tuesday, March 31, 2020 the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is the national public health institute of the United States and the lead federal agency under the Department of Health and Human Services and is headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia on the 2019 Novel Coronavirus (2019-nCoV).

With much news generated throughout the media the country and abroad The Hopi Tribe's Department of Health & Human Services together with Hopi Health Care Center/Indian Health Services (HHCC-IHS), state and federal agencies are working closely monitoring the "coronavirus disease 2019" or COVID-19 and collaboratively working together to keep the public and community informed and updated on this disease.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is closely monitoring an outbreak of a respiratory disease, "coronavirus disease 2019" or COVID-19 that is caused by a new coronavirus that was first detected in China. The CDC has now been providing updated information about COVID-19 cases detected in locations internationally, including cases in the United States at: <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/index.html>

For the general American public, the immediate health risk is considered high at this time. The potential public health threat posed by COVID-19 is high, both globally and in the United States. This is a rapidly evolving situation, and information is becoming dated quickly. We encourage everyone to periodically review CDC's COVID-19 webpage for the most recent updates.

The IHS will continue to follow heightened procedures for evaluation and treatment of respiratory illnesses. Patients who are presenting with flu-like illness are being asked if they have traveled recently as a means to determine their risk of exposure to COVID-19. If a patient comes under evaluation for COVID-19, IHS would coordinate with local, state, and/or tribal public health departments immediately.

Direct impacts of this outbreak to Indian Country are increasing and we must be vigilant in our efforts to prevent the introduction and spread of this infectious disease among our patients and within the communities we serve. Go to <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/about/prevention-treatment.html> for some of the everyday preventive actions you can take to help prevent the spread of respiratory viruses.

As flu activity remains high in the U.S. and is expected to continue for weeks, it isn't too late to get your annual influenza vaccination. Everyone six months and older should get the vaccination each year to protect themselves and reduce the risk of spreading the flu to others. Vaccination against the flu is especially important for American Indians and Alaska Natives, who have been found to be at high risk of developing complications from the flu. Go to <https://www.cdc.gov/flu/index.htm> for more information.

Studies have shown that people who get vaccinated will have fewer flu illnesses and doctor visits and miss less work due to influenza. Protect yourself, your family, and your community by getting your vaccination today!

Everyday actions to help prevent the spread of respiratory illnesses include:

- Wash your hands often with soap and water or at least 20 seconds. If soap and water are not available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth with unwashed hands.
- Stay home when you are sick.
- Avoid close contact with people who are sick.
- Cover your cough or sneeze with a tissue or your sleeve (not your hands).
- Clean and disinfect frequently touched objects and surfaces.

The Hopi Department of Health & Human Services is program of the Hopi Tribe and promotes health awareness through advocacy, health education, promotions and prevention for individual and families to create healthy communities while working closely with villages. By LARRY The CAT
The Hopi Tutuveni

Let me tell you a short story about how the Hopi people have this story of when they were travelling and making their way through the first and second world. In this short story the Hopi people had help from a little old wise woman called Spider Woman.

Now, in this story, she helped the people through several stages of their travels. And when the people wanted to search for a permanent place, Spider Woman warned them of the dangers that lay ahead and that she would only help them, when in the worst of times.

See in this story, there are several variants of how they got to the fourth world. In this particular variant, the group of people, with the help from Spider Woman, grew a long and straight bamboo stalk that punched right through the sky into the fourth world.

Without hesitation, the leader of this group wanted to check it out. So Spider Woman made a single bird from clay to scour the land to explore and assess. While the bird flew through the opening in the sky, the bird noticed something in the distance. When he flew in closer, he noticed a camp fire that someone had built. As he flew closer, he saw a single figure sitting by the fire.

The bird landed beside the sitting figure and stated, "I come seeking a new land." The bird then asked, "I was wondering, if you are alone or with a group?"

The figure did not answer right away, but continued to stoke the fire and threw another log on the burning embers. The figure sat back down and spoke, "I am the keeper of this land, what business do you have here?"

The bird, a bit scared to even answer but said, "I was sent to scour the land to see if it was a possible home for my people."

Without hesitation the figure spoke with a deep voice. "You are welcome to live on my land if you follow a simple rule." He said, "I am a simple man with simple duties. I only have in my possession a single planting stick and some seeds. This land is harsh but full of possibilities to live on. You will be tested with living a hard life but in the end, you will be rewarded with new life. If your people are willing to live as I do, I will welcome your people to live on my land."

The bird was excited and willing to go back and tell the people that there is land that is fertile but harsh. But as the bird was ready to head back to tell the people, the bird asked, "Who are you? What is your name?" As the figure stood up, the fire roared and calmed back down, "I have many names and many faces. Your people will both fear me and accept me. My name is Hopi and when you live on my land you must use my name so you will not forget why you are here."

As the figure sat back down the bird flew away, while the figure said a final warning, "You will become caretakers of this land as I will watch you always. Once you forget your duties that I bestowed upon your people I will come back take back what was truly mine."

So, with that knowledge the bird went back to the people and told the leader what this figure said to him. The leader of the group agreed to the conditions and lead his people to use this land today.

So, this story is not complete, but it was to give you an understanding that we are not owners of the land, but we are simply caretakers and we must take care of what was given to us.

Sort of like a loan on a brand-new car, we make payments on it but when we miss one payment the car is taken back. Once the Hopi people understand once again, that we cannot fight one another, or we cannot have all the luxuries the western society has, or we cannot be like a white man. Once we figure that out again, we will become whole again.

So, my advice to you is that even though some may believe that our tribal government leaders are not "leading" it does not mean that we should only look to them for guidance.

We can simply look at what duties "Hopi" gave us to do. Talk to your elders, or ask them, "What are my duties to the Hopi people?"

And in the end, we will be rewarded with new life...although, I am hoping it includes pizza...and who knows new life might still include pizza, which doesn't sound so bad at all.
